Make-Believe City Officials At Zanesville Have Fun By Staging Real Gambling Raids

By The Associated Press

ZANESVILLE, O., May 20—The unexpected happened when high school seniors took over city offices for the day yesterday.

Townsfolks expected the seniors to have fun "playing" mayor, police chief and other city officials. They had fun all right—and the adult officials had red faces because:

Jack Harker as police chief staged a series of gambling raids "Mayor" Aubrey Sibbring and "City Solicitor" Frank Shurtz Jr, went along.

They confiscated a jar with gambling slips in one place, broke up a poker game and found a pull tab board

Harker didnt file any charges, although he claimed he had full legal authority to do so.

Others Also Active

While this was going on, "Fire Chief" Charles Cooper, "City Auditor" Henry Abele and "Safety Director" John Montgomery tried to condemn the high school building as a fire trap.

The real school officials, City Superintendent Donald Summers and Principal Ralph Storts, forestalled this with a few quick conferences after city fire inspectors came to look over the building.

Summers indicated he couldn't give the day's doings too much worry.

"The spirit of adventure, you know," he said. "When you turn youngsters loose in a job like that they're likely to do anything. I'll never guarantee what will happen, myself."

"The purpose of the thing," he added, "is of course to identify the students with local government. It's part of their social science courses. It's a laboratory experience."

On Own Initiative

Asked if there seemed to be any indication that the gambling raids were the result of adult guidance, Summers replied, "I don't think so—most boys seem to know what is going on around them and where to go to find anything."

The student "officials" were chosen in an election at the school last week after a two-party mock campaign. The junior high and grade schools have similar events annually on invitation of the city officials.

Summers said he did not know if high school students would get to run the city again next year.

No Word from Officials

"I don't have any control over that," he chuckled. "That's for the city officials to say. They haven't said anything to me about what happened yesterday, much less about next year."

"The whole thing," he added with another chuckle, "sounds like Shakespeare's play."

"Do you mean 'Much Ado About Nothing?'" he was asked.

"You said that—I didn't," he laughed.

City officials meanwhile awaited the thinking of City Solicitor J. Lincoln Knapp on what should be done next. There was understood to be some question about the sufficiency of the warrants with which the boys conducted their raids Also there was a question whether the "cookie jar" gambling device picked up at one place could count as evidence since it was in a counter drawer rather than on display.

One Man Fined

Earl Freeman, one of three persons whose establishments were raided by the youngsters, pleaded guilty today to a charge of possessing a gambling device (punchboard) and was fined $25 and costs.

J. Lincoln Knapp, the real city solicitor, said search warrants prepared by the youngsters and used in the two other raids were improperly drawn.

The warrents were written in longhand and signed by James Shaw, a student officiating as "municipal judge".

"Police Chief" Harper said he also planned to raid a house of prostitution, "but the real chief took away my gun and badge before I could get around to it

The student officials today were required to return $8 50 which they seized in one of their anti-gambling raids

William G. Watson, the real mayor, commented that the high school students "certainly will be invited back next year"

LEWIS SENDS WAGE POLICY GROUP HOME

Says Question of Mine Peace or War Is Up to Three Industrialists.

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—John L. Lewis said today that three industrialists "have the power to determine whether we will have peace or war in the coal industry."

Lewis, who raised the threat of a new coal strike by walking out on a new soft coal wage contract conference yesterday, told reporters:

"There is still time to convene a constructive wage conference and negotiate a contract by July 1 if they want to"

The United Wine Workers chief named as the three men who hold the key to coal peace the following.

Benjamin Fairless, president of U. S. Steel Corp; George Humphrey, president of M. A. Hanna Co., and J. B. Francis, president of Island Creek Coal Co

Lewis met reporters after a 20-minute session of his 200-man wage policy committee.

Sends Committee Home

He sent committee members home and said they had no future meeting planned.

He said the union's executive board will meet tomorrow to discuss the situation.

Lewis refused to comment on the possibility of a work stoppage even before June 30. But he charged that the operators are continuing to dishonor the present contract which expires June 30.

He served notice that the chief issue to be settled will be the activation of the $36,000,000 welfare and retirement fund built up by 10 cents a ton contributions from the operators since July 1, 1947.

"It is inconceivable," Lewis said, "that the United Mine Workers could or would negotiate a successor agreement that fails to activate the welfare fund."

"Neither the officers nor the members of the policy committee have the power nor authority so to do, and in honor, they would personally refuse to do so."

Criticizes Fairless

He said that Fairless will draw $27,677 a year pension when he retires from U. S. Steel Corp. He said Fairless is one of the industrialists who says coal miners are not entitled to $100 a month after 20 years of service in the mines

"He can't do that to the coal miners of the country," Lewis said, "and the citizens of this country should not permit Messrs. Fairless, Humphrey and Francis to try to do it The coal miners of this country are not yet slaves.

"It's time for the thinking people of this country to stop believing that only coal miners are wrong and only corporations are right," he went on

"Coal miners are entitled to fair treatment from U. S. Steel, M A. Hanna Co, and from the people of this country, including the federal judiciary."

Lewis said failure to activate the welfare fund "creates an acute situation most grave in character."

July 1 "Exhaustion Date"

"All benefits of the 1946 welfare fund will be stopped by exhaustion of this fund by July 1," Lewis said. "Thousands of widows, orphans, and sick and injured men now writhing on beds of pain in their humble domiciles will be left to live or die on July 1.

"Such a brutal act on the part of the operators will create such convulsions of anger among the working mine workers of this country that the situation is fraught with grave potentials."

Lewis then named Fairless, Humphrey and Francis as the three persons who could "give instructions" for negotiation of a contract by July 1.

Lewis emphasized that the issue of welfare is "paramount" to negotiating a new agreement.

Two months ago when Lewis accused the operators of having "dishonored" their contract, the miners walked out and stayed out 29 days in a dispute over pensions.

Charge Filed

The southern association, whose members produce about one-fourth of the nation's soft coal, has filed charges against Lewis with the national labor relations board. It asked the board to obtain a court order forcing the United Mine Workers' boss to resume bargaining.

Government sources said the wage policy committee's action today might determine how rapidly General Counsel Robert N. Denham of the labor board would act on the charges against Lewis.

In a new strike appears imminent, the government may ask for another Taft-Hartley injunction to

DISCLOSE LONG PLANE FLIGHT

Navy Aircraft of Most Distant Range in World Launched from Carrier.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—The longest range plane in the world, the Navy's P2V Neptune, has been successfully launched from an aircraft carrier, it was learned today.

A Navy official, who refused to allow use of his name, said the Neptune was launched with jet power assistance from the 45,000-ton carrier, Coral Sea, off the Virginia capes last month The craft flew to a landing on shore

This type of plane—a two-engine craft—set the world distance record of 11,235 miles on a flight from Perth, Australia, to Columbus, O., in 1946

Earlier the air force had reported a B-36 bomber had made an 8,000-mile flight on a simulated bombing mission This was described as probably the longest flight in history with a payload

Weighs 70,000 Pounds

The Navy official, who described the Neptune's take-off from the carriet, said the plane could be modified so as to make a landing on the carrier.

The Neptune weighs some 70,000 pounds, and would land with an impact force of about one and one-half times this weight, he said

He said the amount of strain a carrier deck can stand when a plane lands is the limiting factor in how big a craft can set down on one.

Allowing a safety factor, the Navy official told a reporter, the carrier deck would have to stand over 200,000 pounds stress.

He said the Neptune was not intended to carry bombs off a carrier but would be extremely useful in long distance anti-submarine patrol.

Six Engines in Wing

The purpose of the experiment was to see whether search missions of 3,000 to 4,000 miles are feasible, he said.

The B-36, built by Consolidated Vultee Aircraft corporation at Fort Worth, Tex., is powered by six 3,000-horsepower engines buried in the wing. The propellers are behind the wing.

The Air Force has described the B-36 as a "10,000-mile bomber." It called the recent flight another step in the "continuing long range testing program."

The flight took place last Thursday and Friday, covering 36 hours. The big plane shuttled between Carswell airbase at Fort Worth and California, dropping a "sizeable, useful load of dummy bombs" about midway during the flight.

Average speed was given as 220 miles an hour.

Mansfield Prepares To Build TB Hospital

By International News Service

MANSFIELD, O., May 20—Louis Zahn, Mansfield contractor, today began preparations for construction of the new Richland county tuberculosis sanatorium.

Zahn's bid of $476,650 was low of three bids submitted for general construction on the project. Total cost of the 84-bed hospital is expected to exceed $800,000.

Ohio Statute Held Applicable To Private Property Driving

By International News Service

COLUMBUS, May 20—The Ohio guest statute, which absolves a driver of liability unless he is guilty of wilful or wanton negligence, was held to be applicable to private property as well as public highways today by the State Supreme court.

In two cases, the court upheld decisions by the Franklin county common pleas and second district appellate courts, throwing out suits for damages which alleged only ordinary negligence.

The first suit was filed by William F and Mary Kitchens against Geraldine K. Duffield, driver of a car in which Mrs Kitchens was riding April 8, 1943, when it collided with an Army truck on the grounds of the Lockbourne Army Air base.

The suit alleged that since the accident occurred on government property and not on a public highway, the guest statute did not apply

In the other case, Louise Kilgore, a London school teacher, sued the U-Drive-It Co of Columbus for injuries she received while a passenger in a car driven by a company employe in the company garage, and which crashed into a wall She claimed that the guest statute did not apply because the accident occurred on private property.

The high court, in upholding dismissal of both suits, ruled that the guest statute, which relieves the owner or operator of liability for injury to a gratuitous guest resulting from the operation of motor vehicle unless caused by wilful or wanton misconduct, applies both to public and private ways and avenues of travel.

In another case the court limited the application of industrial commission safety regulations to the specific industries to which they are applied.

The court granted a writ of mandamus to the Miller Plumbing Co., ordering the commission to set aside an additional award of death benefits in the case of Charles A. Brode. Brode was killed in a fall from a ladder while installing boilers in a Coshocton factory building in 1943

The commission granted additional benefits because the ladder from which Brode fell was not equipped with safety "shoes" or spikes, in violation of a commission requirement applied specifically to factories and workshops.

The company contended that it was engaged solely in building and construction work, and that hence the factory and workshop regulation did not apply.

Decides On Vote Ballots

The high court reversed the Greene county common pleas court and held that T K King was elected a member of the Fairfield council at last November's election.

Six members were to have been elected from a field of 12 candidates. The board of elections first held that Robert Kerwin and King had received 378 votes and 377 votes and were elected, while William E. Sipe was defeated with 376 votes.

In a recount, however, six ballots were thrown out and Kerwin and Sipe, with 374 and 373 votes, were declared elected while King, with 372 votes, was declared defeated. King then filed his election suit, which was dismissed by the common pleas court.

In reversing that court and upholding King, the Supreme court cited a new law which provides that no ballot may be rejected for any technical error as long as it is possible to determine the voter's choice

The ballots had been thrown out for technical error, but the high court held that its examination of them showed none so soiled or defaced as to have left the elector's choice in doubt.

GAS CO. RESTRICTS NEW HEATING UNITS

Abandons Former Plan of Permitting New Installations.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Co said today it was abandoning plans to permit additional gas heating of homes this year, The Associated Press reported in a dispatch from Columbus

The company, one of Ohio's largest, recently announced it would allow gas heating of half the new homes constructed in its area this year, and permit an equal number of conversions in homes now heated with other fuel. The company serves a large section of the state, including Marion and other central Ohio counties.

Two reasons were given for cancellation of this program: (1) delays in receiving steel pipe resulting from the period when the coal mines were idle and (2) possible allocation of additional contracted gas to other areas by the federal power commission.

Its early announcement, the company said, was based on estimates that its gas supply by Feb. 1 would result in a gross shortage on a zero day of 62,000,000 cubic feet, much of this shortage, it said, could be offset by industrial curtailments.

Without acceptance of any additional home heating customers, the gas shortage on a zero day will be around 85,000,000 cubic feet because of the new circumstance, the firm added.

In Cleveland the East Ohio Gas Co. advertised it would accept applications for conversion of home-heating units to gas until June 1. No deadline was set for accepting applications for gas-heating units in new buildings, East Ohio said, because construction was just getting underway for the season and all applications could be handled at present.

CAUGHT AFTER 12-MILE CHASE; SLUG VICTIM

Man Near Waldo Hit and Bound Up as Pair Takes $59.

An alert state highway patrolman, in a spectacular 12-mile running gun battle, captured two young West Virginians last night 45 minutes after a holdup at a route 23 filling station two miles north of Waldo.

Patrolman James E. Mansperger of the Columbus district spotted the fleeing car on route 23 north of Worthington and gave chase. He brought the men to bay at rifle point near New California on route 33 after firing six shots in the wild 70-mile-an-hour chase

He identified the men as Walter G Quesenberry, 19, of Big Creek, W. Va., and William J. Combs, 20, of New Hall, W. Va. The former was taken to Columbus patrol headquarters for questioning and then to city prison in Columbus. Combs was taken to University hospital in Columbus after being belted over the head with a rifle butt when he refused to obey Mansperger's command to lie down after being captured

Arrive at 7 P. M.

Two men had driven into Dave's service station on route 23 north of Waldo about 7 p m., according to Allan Wargowsky, 21, son of the owner and only person in the filling station at the time.

Wargowsky said they drove a black 1936 Chevrolet sedan They first said they wanted to put some air in the tires, then asked to have the windshield wiper fixed. Wargowsky motioned them to drive into the garage and then proceeded to examine the wiper.

While his attention was on the equipment one of the men slugged Wargowsky with a pistol butt knocking him to the floor. Getting to his feet he attempted to fight his assailants off, but was halted at gun point with the command "Take it easy or we'll shoot." Both men were armed with pistols, he said.

The men were highly nervous, Wargowsky said. Unable to get the cash register open they made him open the register before trussing him to a chair with a trouble light cord. After ascertaining that Wargowsky was securely tied, the men rifled the cash register, cut the phone wires, backed their car out of the garage, filled the tank with gas from the pump and roared out of the station south on route 23 The Wargowskys said $59 was missing.

Hobbles To Home

Wargowsky then hobbled to the house, dragging the chair with him. There his mother, Mrs. David Wargowsky, freed him and called the sheriff's office. Call was made from the nearby home of Merle Wargowsky, another son. He and David Wargowsky were in the fields planting corn at the time and unaware of what had taken place.

Deputy Sheriff George L. Conroy took the call at the county jail and relayed the information to the highway patrol substation here where patrolmen put the alarm on the air at 7:10 p. m., giving the description of the car, license No. 103563 and the warning that the hold up men were armed.

At this point the Columbus patrolman took over. Mansperger was on route 23 north of Worthington at the time. Within minutes after his radio receiver had blared out the alarm he spotted the fleeing car and took off in pursuit.

The chase led south into Worthington, west on route 161 across the Scioto River road at Dublin and out on route 33 toward New California and Marysville.

Mansperger having been warned the suspects were armed, did not immediately attempt to overtake the speeding car, firing pot shots instead as the chase continued its 12-mile course. The patrolman punched a hole in the windshield of the cruiser to accommodate his rifle. One of his six shots hit the car, he reported. Shortly afterwards the car slowed to a stop within two miles of New California.

One Hit with Gun

Mansperger ordered the men out of the car, commanding them to lie down in the highway while he frisked them. Combs hesitated to obey and the patrolman swung on him with the rifle butt, clubbing him to the pavement unconscious. Combs had a long bladed case knife on his person, the

COURT BANS GALION POWER PLANT ACTION

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 20—Common Pleas Judge Clarence U. Ahl today made permanent the injunction restraining the city of Galion from proceeding with the purchase of an $108,437 diesel generating unit for its municipal light and power plant.

A temporary injunction had been issued in November of last year in a taxpayers suit filed against the city by Kenneth Petri, Galion attorney, charging the purchase was illegal. The city has already contracted for the equipment for which a down payment of $10,800 was made.

In sustaining the injunction, Judge Ahl held the purchase to be illegal as it was authorized by resolution and not by an ordinance of city council and should have been advertised. Also that the resolution, although stating the measure to be emergency legislation did not state why it was emergency and further, that no official was authorized to make the purchase under the resolution.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

"NON-PROFIT" DISCUSSED

Editor of The Star—I write you this open letter for publication in your paper. First, I want to make clear that I do not have an ax to grind inasmuch as I am not connected with in any way, nor do I offer as one of my services, hospitalization insurance. My only purpose is to make my stand against something that I feel has no place in our American way of life.

I am a member of various organizations, including the Marion Chamber of Commerce, but best of all I am an American citizen, which gives me the right to voice my opinions.

For the past several weeks many of our leading business and professional men have lent support in one way or another to the advancement of the so-called non-profit organization called the Blue Cross Hospitalization Service, which offers for sale a service in direct competition to many of our city's own business men; business men who have families to support just the same as professional men or retail merchants.

I am wondering what these same promoters would do if the people who represent the Independent Hospital Service Business of this city, would get behind and promote a non-profit business such as a grocery, clothing, appliance or hardware store or even socialized medicine. We all know the answer.

Non-profit sounds good in these days of high cost of living but to me it is just the beginning of another "ism." In the first place, no one is going to work without hire and if he did how long would he be able to buy or use what you have to sell, Mr. Business or Professional Man, be it labor, service or commodities?

Bethlehem Grange Holds Mother's Day Program

A Mother's day program was held by Bethlehem Grange last week at the Grange hall. Group singing of "Silver Threads Among the Gold" and "Home Sweet Home" opened the meeting which was in charge of Paul Fogle, master. Mrs. Lulu Mehaffey presented "Prayer of the Mothers." Origin of Mothers day was given by Mrs. Mabel Daugherty, and Mrs. Grace Biggs sang "Mother," accompanied by Miss Hazel Clunk, and assisted by six children, Jean Fogle, Joan Ulmer, Ralph and Charles Russel, Brent Berringer and Phyllis Daugherty, who held the letters for forming the word, "Mother." Darrell Gerfin gave a reading, and "Mother of Mine" was given by Mrs. Carol Williams. Judge Edward Ruzzo of the Marion county probate and juvenile courts spoke on juvenile delinquency, illustrated with moving pictures. A corsage was presented Mrs. Stella Mehaffey, the oldest mother attending. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Seiler, married recently, were honored with a miscellaneous shower. Refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Bob Briggs and Mr. and Mrs. Carol Russell. The next meeting will be in charge of the home economics committee.

Making Crime Illegal

THE PROS and cons in the argument over the Mundt bill have been thoroughly combed over in congressional and unofficial debate.

But there is something missing. Whether the provisions of this particular proposal to make things tough for homegrown Communists are good or bad, wise or foolish, airtight or full of holes, they still add up to a proposal for making crime illegal.

As Governor Dewey pointed out in his debate with Mr. Stassen on the subject of outlawing communism, there already are 27 laws for dealing with persons who do the things the Mundt bill would make illegal.

If these laws are not being enforced, the addition of one more law wouldn't help matters much. Or if some can't be enforced because it's difficult to know what a Communist is and to prove it, the Mundt bill would fall hen to the same difficulty.

It's going to take more than just another law to handle the problem of a foreign-guided conspiracy to overthrow the government of the United States. The real conspirators, after all, don't give a whoop for laws.

Speaking of Civil Rights

POLITICIANS, having chosen to make a football out of civil rights, will not be likely to make an issue of it outside the political arena this year.

But perhaps in the South there may be an observer somewhere, interested in civil rights as a possession of all citizens regardless of geography and race, able to see that the North has its own regional civil rights problem.

It is a problem growing out of industrial warfare that deprives men and women of the right to security in their jobs and in their persons through the acts of minorities. Sometimes these acts are no different from the acts of lynching mobs.

They may be carried on in defiance of constitutional and statutory law, the rulings of courts and the duty of law enforcement officers. The victims of the acts may have no more recourse to justice than the victims of lynching mobs in any part of the country. They may find themselves with no champions in legislatures or in the courts, victims of the same rules of callous expediency that cause public officeholders elsewhere to sneer at critics, "This is our own problem and we choose to handle it our own way."

Civil rights, as every employe of a strike-bound plant has direct cause to know, are not peculiarly the problem of any one section of the United States.

It's a Good Trick

NOTHING appeals more strongly to the American sense of fair play and good sportsmanship than face-to-face debate in politics, a field in which fair play and good sportsmanship are rare.

The Stassen-Dewey debate on communism a few days ago helped both men in Oregon, where it was staged, and has been commented on favorably in all other parts of the country. Here, obviously, were two extremely able public figures.

The same kind of respect that's given to public men able to debate current issues intelligently is given to public men willing to put their native intelligence to other hard tests. Wendell Willkie's mental agility on Information Please brought him wide public favor in 1940.

Robert A. Taft's debates with a New Deal congressman, T. V. Smith, in 1939 helped establish him as one of the ablest exponents of Republican policy; the Gallup poll showed that 66 per cent of the radio audience thought Taft had the strongest argument. The Lincoln-Douglas debates, of course, made a classical pattern for political give-and-take in a democracy.

"Why, then, if it's such a good idea," the public wants to know, "don't all political candidates use it?"

The answer is easy. Not more than one politician out of a hundred would dare to try. The other 99 would make fools of themselves, if they had a worthy opponent. If the opponent happened to be unworthy, they'd make fools of each other.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Two Great Americans—Friends of Boys.

WITHIN a day last week died two Americans whose names will long be remembered as friends of boys—Father Edward Joseph Flanagan of Boys Town and James Edward West of the Boy Scouts. Both served the adage that there are no bad boys, no unredeemable boys, both realized that in America there could be no underprivileged boys, for to be born an American boy is a privilege.

Increased urbanization brings serious problems to the boy, particularly to the imaginative, active, sensitive boy, who on the farm would have free play for his talents, fishing in the stream, helping at chores, watching by his father's side through the night as the calf is born. The farm boy lives through the thrills of the seasonal cycle as life moves in its annual crescendo of renewal and death and resurrection.

SOKOLSKY

The city boy has only the sidewalks. There was a time, and I suppose it still exists in many places, when the sandlot was the sinecure of a young boy's hopes. But too often that sandlot has become a parking lot and the boy can only "hang around" with a gang that thinks up things to do—and maybe the imagination runs away and prudence does not restrain and the boy is in trouble.

He Understood Them

Father Flanagan had lots to do with boys in trouble, understood how to get under the defensive thin-skin of a boy in trouble whose pretense at toughness only proved his being scared to death—scared not only of himself but of all the world. But no one was ever afraid of Father Flanagan—no boy was. For he soon discovered that at Boys Town he was taken at his own valuation and given a chance to make something of himself. What he made of himself was his own doing; Father Flanagan and his associates were only there, on the lot outside of Omaha, Neb., to help on the way.

There have been many attempts in the past to create free environments for so-called bad boys, but they rarely achieved their purposes, because they were utterly secular. When physical discipline is deserted, only moral discipline can take its place. For discipline there must be. Human beings, even as dogs and horses and rosebushes are cultivated, can turn into ugly creatures without either self or externally imposed moral restraints. The state treats the boy who gets into trouble by the external discipline of the reform school or the jail; in Boys Town, the self-discipline of moral restraints accomplishes greater results by building character.

Scouts Teach Equal Opportunity

And that, too, and on an even greater scale, is the achievement of the Boy Scouts, who have become so full a part of American life. For the genius of the Boy Scouts is not that they know how to hike or build a fire or to fry a fish, but rather that character is built in every Scout troop, from the Cubs upward through all the degrees of Scouthood. The boy learns to live in a cooperative society where there is equal opportunity for any boy, rich or poor, from the slums or from Park Avenue, of any religion, any color, any ancestry, to rise in the ranks by personal achievement.

Boys are particularly sensitive about fairness. The other day I attended an Americanization program of the New York Athletic Club post of the American Legion, and a Boy Scout addressed the audience. This Boy Scout was a refugee from Hitler's oppression. His father had escaped from fear and the torture of the spirit and had found sanctuary in America. But the son had found something even more wonderful here; he had discovered equality of opportunity. And as he spoke for the Boy Scouts to that audience, a lump that was hard to swallow rose in every throat. For there in the uniform of an American Boy Scout stood this refugee boy—an American.

We bid Father Edward Joseph Flanagan and James Edward West farewell and tell them that their glorious work will not be forgotten or abandoned by the millions of boys they served—boys who are now or will soon be American men.

Wallace Won't Disarm Russia

By Walter Lippmann

IF Generalissimo Stalin is as much of a political realist as he is a military realist he must know that Henry Wallace's open letter could not become the "concrete program" for a peaceful settlement of our differences.

Wallace proposes a general reduction of armaments, "outlawing all methods of mass destruction," that is to say, strategic air power. He proposes to stop "the export of weapons by any nation to any other nation," that is to say, any form of lend-lease.

LIPPMANN

He has nothing to say about the size of the Red army and the satellite armies of Eastern Europe.

No wonder that, on first thought, his proposals were so attractive to the generalissimo. But on second thought Stalin will have to admit that they are too good to be true.

The Wallace program, though Wallace may not realize it, would leave the Red army supreme and unopposed on the Eurasian continent. It is not a program for general disarmament. It is a program, more naive than it is ingenious, for the unilateral disarmament of the non-Soviet world.

Instead of redressing the balance of power, which is essential to the negotiation of any true settlement and to its maintenance, the Wallace program would, if we were so silly as to adopt it, leave Russia paramount throughout Europe and Asia and leave the United States isolated in the western hemisphere.

Russian Power

Russian military power consists of some 20,000,000 men of military age, recruited by conscription, under unified command, capable of marching into all the disputed areas of Europe and Asia. They are armed with deadly weapons, deadly enough to have defeated the flower of the German army. But they are not "weapons of mass destruction." They are machine guns, artillery, tanks, tactical airplanes — weapons which would not be "outlawed" by the Wallace program.

The Russian military power cannot, as a matter of fact, be disarmed. It is not in "armaments." It is inexhaustible reserves of soldiers. These soldiers can be withdrawn into the Soviet Union. They can be demobilized and sent back to the farms and factories. But that is all. There is in reality no such thing as Russian disarmament. There is only Russian demobilization.

The United States and the western nations, on the other hand, have no great mass of military man power. They are separated by the ocean. The military power of the non-Soviet world is in its armaments, which are capable of striking at long range—in complicated and expensive engines and machines which take years to manufacture, which only the United States can, in fact, manufacture in large quantities.

The non-Soviet world can, therefore, be disarmed. Indeed it becomes disarmed whenever the manufacture and replacement of its engines of war is stopped. Then, while it might take Russia three months to remobilize fully it might take the United States three years to re-arm fully.

For this reason, there is no acceptable basis of settlement in a program which could at best bring about a partial and temporary demobilization in Russia and would surely bring about a disarmament in the west.

The basis, therefore, of any discussion which could lead to a genuine settlement is not the abandonment but the completion of an American program of re-armament and of military assistance to western Europe.

Effect on Congress

There has been fear expressed that the Russian "peace offensive" is designed to influence congress to cut down appropriations and to postpone the draft. Perhaps, but we must assume that Representative Taber and his colleagues will not be hornswoggled that easily, and that they will see that what has made the Kremlin so interested in talking is the growing strength and unity of the western world.

But if a redressment of the balance of power is indispensable to negotiations, it is at the same time imperative that we should try to make it clear to ourselves and to the Russians what is the basic issue that has to be settled. This we have not yet done directly, explicitly, and affirmatively.

The issue is whether Europe is to be partitioned into a Soviet and an American bloc, or whether the European nations are to become sufficiently united to be an independent power in the world—friendly to both Russia and America but not the satellites and clients of either.

Just a Minute

By Jack Tarver

Ooooh, Harry, What You Said!!!

"Children and dogs are as necessary to the welfare of this country as Wall Street," President Truman recently told the National Conference on Family Life.

That cinches it . . .

Harry Truman is a dangerous man, full of strange and alien ideas.

Children as necessary as Wall Street, indeed! Let the house un-American activities committee investigate this dangerous doctrine immediately. Everyone knows the Russians have children, too.

Why, if that sort of thinking becomes general, all the better apartment houses will change their signs to read: "POSITIVELY NO CHHILDREN, DOGS OR BROKERS."

Dogs as necessary as Wall Street! Did you ever hear of a fox-terrier paying any dividends?

. . . except maybe in more fox-terriers?

"In-Law" Research

By International News Service

ITHACA—A study is now being made of the effect of "in-laws" on family life. The Child Development and Family Relationships department of the State College of Home Economics at Cornell has launched such a study. Although in-law relationships are generally believed to have an important influence on early marriage adjustments, little research has been done on this subject.

One Place To Reverse the New Look

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, May 20, 1938.

Southern senators demanded elimination of regional differentials in WPA pay in the event congress enacted a nationwide minimum wage.

The Marion Circle of the Child Conservation League closed the season with a picnic at the home of Mrs. W. W. Doughty on the Radnor road.

Prospects were bright for Marion's entry in the Ohio State Baseball league as the solicitation committee met for the first report meeting at Hotel Harding. With a goal of from $2,000 to $3,000, the workers reported that contacts indicated it would be reached.

Alexander Freeland, 30, a farm hand employed at the Will Monnette farm near Bucyrus, was killed instantly when struck by lightning.

Mrs. Jennie J. Jolley, 69, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. L. Catterlin of Wallace street.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, May 20, 1928.

C. B. Rayburn was reelected superintendent of Marion county schools for a three-year term.

The Knights of Columbus in state convention here heard a report from State Deputy W. E. Haas of Delaware which listed membership in the state at 38,000, an increase of 2,000 over the year before.

Mrs. Christine Bolander, 77, died at her home on South Prospect street.

Mrs. James Cusic and son Marion of Mary street visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cusic and family in Akron.

Harry T. Bell and son Robert of North Main street returned from a month's stay in San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco, Calif.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Scranton entertained a company of relatives at dinner in their home on Merkle avenue celebrating the ninth birthday anniversary of their son, Jack Victor.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Ghio of Orlando, Fla., were entertained at dinner at the home of Mrs. Mary J. Marble on Willow street.

Daily Bible Thought

No one has to place himself in such unhappy company. He has an alternative choice that will bring delight. — Ps. 1:1: "Blessed is the man that walketh not in counsel of the ungodly, nor standeth in the way of sinners, nor sitteth in the seat of the scornful."

The Oregon Trail

By Raymond Moley

PORTLAND, ORE.

IN THIS exciting week in Oregon, some local people are asking why their state has become the center of political interest in this big country.

The crop of delegates to be selected is not so large. Twelve is a small portion of 1,100. Nineteen were selected in neighboring Washington at a convention during all the Oregon furor, and there hardly was a word about it in the papers. And all over the country hundreds of delegates have been picked with less fanfare.

MOLEY

One reason for the intense interest in Oregon is the melancholy fact that this is the last chance John Q. Public is going to have to vote directly for a presidential candidate until November. Another and more important reason is that this primary means so much to the two young men who are running. Defeat will not kill the chances of either; but a loss here will be a real setback in prestige, which will weight heavily in the minds of vacillating and uninstructed delegates in other states.

Oregon has not seen the like of this for many, many years. Towns and cities are full of political advertising, noisy headquarters and streetcorner arguments. The air, night and day, is full of political broadcasts. Everybody is enjoying it but the weary and haggard managers who have had to do a year's organizing in three or four weeks.

An Arduous Job

Even the candidates seem to be having a good time. The physical strain is terrific. It is a good thing that they are young and sound. This is no game for an elder statesman. Both candidates travel mostly in buses. No town is too small for a stop. Speeches, except in big Portland meetings, are off the cuff. Traveling is over great distances and sometimes over rough country.

But it is not a rough or dirty campaign. Things are as polite as the intensity of the show permits.

Anecdotes accumulate. A truck bearing Stassen knocked over a lamppost in one town. The candidate promptly bought the town a new lamppost. More recently, Dewey's bus killed a dog. Dewey bought the owner a new dog.

Town Has Double Feature

In Cascade Locks, population 700, school was out to greet Dewey. The mayor wearing a Dewey button, was on hand. Stassen came along and harangued the crowd. Then Dewey came. Seeing the crowd listening to his rival, he went on. He would not, he explained, break into the opposition's meetings. The mayor, a reporter says, then replaced the Dewey button with two Stassen buttons.

Someone remarked of Dewey that the uses of adversity are sweet. The Wisconsin and Nebraska defeats have brought out qualities in the man which seldom have been seen before. He is a happy warrior, virile, affable, lively, concise and at times eloquent. He ducks no questions. The harder they come the faster he answers. And it should be remarked that Dewey has made an extraordinary impression.

Six months ago, all good political judges regarded Dewey as the leading choice of Oregon Republicans. Then came the Stassen hurricane. Two months ago, it looked like Stassen as a 3-1 favorite.

About 50-50 Now

The counterattack by Dewey, however, has made a basic change in those opinions. Reporters who are personally favorable to Stassen or some other candidate all admit that the chances now, a few days before the primary, are about even. Those who like Dewey believe he has a much better than even chance to win. The fact is that Dewey's campaign has reversed a trend, and that the trend is now in his favor and is continuing.

The outlaw-communism issue is not a particularly happy one. Both candidates seem to have blundered into it, and now they have to keep it up. Because it is a complicated legal problem, it is not a good subject for political debate. And under our Constitution it is really a state issue. Many people would like to hear more pertinent issues discussed.

But in a campaign like this, it is the personal attractiveness of the candidates that counts. And both are showing real political color.

De Valera Reunion

By The Associated Press

MELBOURNE, Australia—When Eamon De Valera, former Eire premier, visited here recently, he met the soldier who captured him 30 years ago. William Carruthers is now a Melbourne masseur, but was in the British Army when De Valera was an Irish rebel.

"You've changed, Mr. De Valera, since that far away day when I arrested you in the name of the king," Carruthers said.

"I've been waiting 30 years to hear the true story of how you found me," De Valera said. Carruthers explained that his company searched house after house, acting on information that the leader was in a particular area. He said, "Dev wasn't the monster we had imagined. He came along without a murmur."

De Valera, smiling, explained he had been held only three days. But he insisted that if "that back gate had not been locked and if I had known the topography of Dublin you never would have caught me."

Information Please at the Bar

(Dan Golenpaul, producer of Information Please has sued Mutual for $500,000 and Mutual has filed a counter suit for $100,000"—News item)

Clerk—Order in the court!

Judge (taking his seat)—What are you doing?

Clerk—Opening court.

Judge—In this case it should be done through a rooster. May I make a request of all parties? Remember that I am here as a judge, not as a guest star. This is the case of Golenpaul versus Mutual....

An Attorney—No, this is the case of Mutual versus Golenpaul.

Judge—We can't both be right. One of us is going to lose a set of books. I have it! There are two suits here; let us try them both at the same time.

An Attorney—That will result in great confusion.

Golenpaul—I object to that.

Judge—On what grounds.

Golenpaul—It is immaterial, irrevelant and—

Judge—That gives you two out of three, never mind the third reason. Proceed!

* * *

An Attorney—Hearing both cases at once is going to be pretty difficult for you, yerrow.

Judge—Nonsense. Here's my chance to show I'm as fast as Fadiman. Now Mr. Golenpaul, what's your problem?....No, that's my mistake. I was thinking of the A. L. Alexander radio show. To resume, Mr. Golenpaul, what is your contention?

Golenpaul—If you please, I am displeased with the way Mutual is handling Information Please. We prefer one sponsor not dozens.

Judge—Why do you insist on one sponsor?

Golenpaul—What's good enough for Bert Hope and Allen is good enough for Golenpaul.

Judge—I was under the impression Information I lease was too scholarly to worry about money. Do Adams, Kieran and Fadiman show concern about mere considerations of sponsorship and finances?

Golenpaul—No, but we have separate systems. They hold UP their hands. I hold OUR mine!

* * *

Judge—That's a good answer. So far tonight we have not had to pay out a thing. Let's see if you can get this one.

Golenpaul—Shoot!

Judge—Do you contend that Mutual has treated you unfairly? No prompting!

Golenpaul—I do.

Judge—Good. Now do you want to go for the jackpot? Beg pardon, I was thinking of the case of The Walking Man Versus Double or Nothing.

* * *

Counsel for Mutual—May we get in a few words here?

Judge—I have an idea. Suppose you play you side on the piano and we'll see if we can recognize it.

Mutual—That's silly.

Judge—I hope Oscar Levant doesn't hear that. We are not getting anywhere. Maybe I will help if I ask Mutual this question: Is the true or false? Golenpaul will settle this case for 50 per cent?

Golenpaul—Object! Let the True or False program get its own advertising!

* * *

Judge—I note by the papers that there is a claim in the Mutual suit that the Information Please programs have not always been of high quality. That sounds like a dirty dig. Just what is meant there?

Mutual—Trends have changed. We felt that John Kieran should enter on a horse and get the kids saving boxtops. And it was our idea that Adams could interview some honeymoon couples and play recordings. Fadiman, we figured, could introduce a guest master of ceremonies through mysterious footsteps who would later turn out to be Al Jolson's.

Judge—You mean to say there is one radio program which Jolson is not on!

The stock market has had its biggest rise in eight years and nobody is more frightened than the fellow who finds his stock is up a dozen points.

Porch Season

By TRUMAN TWILL

One of the standard household routines in this glorious land is called getting the porch ready for summer and is divided into two parts.

Part I is to clean the porch with the garden hose. The hose is full of holes. These are banged aged, which doesn't keep the leaks from squirting water into the shoes, faces and hip pocket of the porch cleaners, usually the head of the house and several amphibious offspring itchin for a chance to play with water.

Meanwhile, water is dripping on them from the ceiling, which has been thoroughly squirted to no effect, other than to make it look dirtier than it looked before. Someone makes a mental note to take care of this at a later date, preferably two or three years later, and the squirting proceeds.

Water is squirted against all doors and windows, to make sure they are water-proof, which they aren't. Several gallons of water will be found later inside the house, also a wet patch on the wallpaper where the siding wasn't waterproof either.

Water is squirted into open windows of automobiles, the faces of passersby, the tail ends of frightened dogs and at innocent children attracted by the formal opening of the garden hose season. Water drains into the cellar through cracks in the porch floor. All this is incidental. The worst part of the residue of a long, hard winter finally is washed away and the routine enters Part II.

This entails getting the porch furniture from wherever it has been stored and discovering that it needs a coat of paint. This leads to the purchase of paint, brushes, turpentine and a new pair of shoes. It also leads to a scanning of furniture store ads to add some new porch furniture.

Meanwhile it is discovered that the screening on the porch is not all that it should be, which leads to the expenditure of numerous man-hours on repairs and a thumb nail mashed by a misdirected blow of a hammer. At last the porch is ready for summer occupancy.

This is when the weather turns inclement and stays that way while the family waits for a warm day to initiate the porch-sitting season. During this interim, still more furniture is purchased to make the porch more homey against the great day that the family will move outdoors for the summer.

The great day arrives late in June. By this time the furniture needs to be cleaned up again. Two of the newly painted chairs never dried properly and will remain sticky throughout the remainder of the porch season. Fortunately, the remainder is very short, lasting only through July and August and the first few days of September, when it is time again to take the porch furniture back to its place of storage and move inside for the next nine months, or until it is time to stage Parts I and II of the household routine called getting the porch ready for summer.

It might appear to skeptics that this is not worth the effort—and it isn't—but never say so in the presence of a porch sitter, who would trade one hot Sunday afternoon on a porch for a month of Sundays inside the house.

Mrs. Dale Lawrence Begins Term As Federation Head

MRS. DALE LAWRENCE took over her duties as head of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs for the next two years, when the 1947-48 season closed yesterday. As in former years the retiring and incoming officers and board and club presidents held a joint session and yesterday's meeting was a luncheon at Hotel Harding. Other business included reports for the two-year term and reports of the state convention held last month at Columbus.

Mrs. T. H. Sutherland, who served as president for the last two years, presided.

For the third consecutive year, the Marion county federation has been awarded top honors in the sale of articles made by the blind. Miss Helen Bowe, chairman for the work for the blind announced the receipt of a check for $111.43 received this year and also read a letter from the children in the sight-saving class at George Washington school expressing their appreciation of the gift of a radio phonograph from the federation. Money received as awards for the work in the sale of articles made by the blind was used to purchase the instrument and several records. The Marion Sorosis club, Altrurian and Ide Mercure were the clubs making the highest sales.

Mrs. W. N. Harder, chairman of the board of trustees of the Federation Home, reported on the activities. The report showed the home to have been used by club members for club meetings, social gatherings and federation affairs throughout the year. Mrs. Clarence Weber reported on the workshop held at the state convention and the book review given by Wilson R. Dumble of the Ohio State university English department, and additional reports on the meeting were given by Mrs. Gladys Arter, Mrs. Harder, Mrs. Forest Flockencier and Mrs. Sutherland.

With the adjournment of the retiring board Mrs. Sutherland presented the president's pin to Mrs. Lawrence. At the suggestion of Mrs. H. K. Mouser, a past president, Mrs. Sutherland was given a vote of appreciation for her two years of service.

Mrs. Lawrence announced the appointment of Mrs. Paul Knauss as parliamentarian, Mrs. Harder, historian, Miss Edna S. Dutton, publicity chairman and Miss Alice Caulfield, Pan-American fellowship chairman. Mrs. J. E. Probst was elected to represent the club presidents and Mrs. James Lauer of Prospect, the department heads on the board.

Mrs. Harder, Mrs. Troy McClure and Miss Lucile Foreman were named a committee to complete the federation history and put it in shape for publication.

Bouquets of iris and other spring flowers decorated the tables and also were placed throughout the ballroom to carry out a colorful decorative note.

New Officers Chosen Here By Secretaries

OFFICERS for the coming year were elected and announcement made of the national convention to be held in Los Angeles, Calif. at a meeting of the Marion Chapter of the National Secretaries association Monday night at Hotel Harding. Miss Gladys Green was chosen president for 1948-49, Mrs. Marty Maner, vice president, Miss Donna Swartz, recording secretary, Miss Magdalene Muntsinger, corresponding secretary and Miss Corrine Lacey, treasurer.

Miss Kathyrn Burke, who has served as president of the chapter since it was organized in September last year, will attend the national convention as a delegate. A scrapbook, giving a complete history of the local organization, was presented to the chapter by Mrs. Maner, retiring secretary. This will be displayed at the national meeting it was announced.

During the business session it was voted to make the fiscal year from June 1 to May 31 to conform with the national association's year.

Newly-elected officers will be installed at a meeting to be held June 15.

ANTI-RED BILL STUDY SLATED

Senate GOP Leaders Promise Discussion on Measure Passed by House.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—Senate Republican leaders today promised discussion—but no early action—on the anti-Communist bill banged through the house by a 319 to 58 vote.

Chairman Wiley (R-Wis) told a reporter there "certainly" will be judiciary committee hearings on the measure sponsored by Reps. Mundt (R-SD) and Nixon (R-Calif).

It is designed to curb Communist party activities as a "clear and present danger" to the United States.

The Mundt-Nixon bill says an international Communist movement is plotting to set up a dictatorship in this country through Moscow-controlled organizations It tabs the Communist party here as one of such controlled groups

Taft Advises "Serious Study"

With stiff fines and imprisonment, the measure makes it illegal to try to create a foreign controlled dictatorship in this country

Sen Taft of Ohio, who heads the Republican policy committee, said he thinks the measure needs "serious study" before the senate acts on it

"As I read the bill," Taft said, "it requires the registration of anybody who is trying to set up a dictatorship But that would be an admission of what becomes a crime under the bill. So there would be no registration I'm afraid it would merely drive Communists underground"

On the other hand, Sen Ferguson (R-Mich) a judiciary committee member, said he thinks the measure makes any subversive activity of a Communist a crime.

"I think it will cope with a situation we are facing, if we actually enforce it," he said "We already have laws on this point, but I think we have fallen down in enforcing them and I'm willing to take this new step"

Sen. Kilgore A Critic

Sen Kilgore (D-WVa), another committee member, said he doesn't like the idea of trying to control a man's thinking by legislation

"I think that's getting us into the field of gestapo methods, Kilgore added

Sen Dworshak (R-Idaho) said he is inclined to agree with Gov Thomas E Dewey of New York that "you can't legislate a philosophy out of business"

Dewey contended in a radio debate this week that the bill would not outlaw the Communist party Harold E Stassen said, in effect, that it would

Men of Erie

Erie Credited with Many Railroad History "Firsts"

CHAPTER 4

"Famous Firsts of Erie"

...known in railroading circles as the "Railroad of the Firsts" ...e line has earned the title over the years since its inception. ... number of contributions to the industry ...e art of junketing got its start on the Erie, and perhaps ...ies made along the line, as the first trains chugged from ...to Goshen, suggested the now familiar milk trains. Cer... ...as the first to run them.

...opening of the railroad ...tember day in 1841, ...as packed with people who had come for the ceremony. James Bowen, then at the helm of Erie, made the keynote speech. He said that the on-line territory "will be covered with a dense population and amidst these vast solitudes will soon be heard the hum of cities, the abode of prosperous, intelligent and happy souls."

Thomas Selleck of New York may well have taken these words to heart. In those early days, the milk supply for the city came almost exclusively from cows that were kept in town and fed upon brewery and distillery refuse.

The excellent quality of Orange county milk attracted Selleck's attention, when he was made agent for the railroad at Chester. He began working out a plan to develop the business by bringing milk by rail to the markets of New York. The farmers laughed at him at first, but when Philo Gregory of Goshen agreed to go in on the scheme, and his entire first shipment was snapped up, business began to boom. In one year, the infant Erie was justifying itself to the community it served, and to this day continues the service.

THE MATT H. SHAY, (above) a 400-ton locomotive, was an Erie "first" in 1918. Capable of pulling a train of 641 freight cars, 4½ miles long, the locomotive was 105 feet long and had drive wheels under the tender.

• • •

CHARLES MINOT was the very able superintendent of the road at the time the first telegraphic train orders in the world were sent. It was in the early Autumn of 1851. Four years earlier, a commercial telegraph line had been installed along the line of the road, and from its end on through to Fredonia in Chautauqua county. Gradually the magnetic telegraph caught on. Operators on the part of it that paralleled the railroad developed a habit in idle moments of chatting back and forth between messages, bits of idle gossip on the weather, politics and finally on how the trains were running.

Such casual gossip fired the brilliant Minot. On Sept. 22, 1851 the train which he was on was pulled on to a siding to wait for another train to go by. The idea struck him to go to the nearby telegraph station and ask if the other locomotive had gone by up the line. It had not, so Minot, over the protests of the timid engineer, took his train into Goshen. Shortly thereafter, he worked out the telegraphic system which was in most current and popular use until the block system of control was brought in.

On the 14th of April 1851, when the first through train from Piermont to Dunkirk started its historic trip, the Erie was the longest railroad in the country. The inaugural journey was the first long-distance trip, and it deserves further attention. Daniel Webster rode in a rocking chair on a flat-car. Although there is no record to the effect, the probabilities are that the chair was lashed to the car and Daniel to the chair. He was an old man, and needed taking care of. Until after the Civil War, Erie justified its prophecies. The celebration of the first long distance railroad junket in America augured well for the future.

• • •

"POPPY" AYRES was conductor on the first train between Piermont and Dunkirk. Some years before he had hit upon the scheme of rigging a rope between the cars and the locomotive with a stick attached with which to signal the engineer. Despite the fact that "Poppy" weighed 300 muscular pounds, his engineer felt that such signaling was an affront to his dignity, and cut the stick down several times. The last time this happened, Ayres stalked to the cab and soundly thrashed the engineer, thus firmly establishing the precedent which places the conductor in charge of the train on American railroads.

The Erie and the Atlantic and Great Western shared the honor of running the first oil tank car ever operated upon any railroad. With the discovery of oil on one of the branches of the Great Western, in 1864, the necessity of transporting the precious fluid became urgent. The first method consisted of two wooden vats resting on a flat car. Once these had been filled with petroleum the railroaders were fearful that they might leak and lose their contents before the car ever reached its destination. Upon its maiden trip telegrams were sent from each station that it passed, reporting the condition of the tanks. The car came through magnificently, and soon there were many others. In the meantime the present type of tank car with its longitudinal tank and dome was being evolved.

• • •

THERE ARE ANY NUMBER of firsts for which the Erie is responsible. Under President Underwood, several of them were developed—such as the first railroad magazine put out for employes, and the first gas-driven passenger car unit. It is the very nature of the men of Erie never to stand still.

It was Underwood who in 1915 built the 400-ton Matt Shay, then "the biggest locomotive in the world." True, this engine can be only partially considered a first, yet it was one of a long line of famous locomotives of which the Erie is justly proud.

• • •

TOMORROW: "Famous Trains and Trainmen." Marion gets its first mention, along with Robert E. Woodruff, now Erie president, who lived in Marion several years while Kent division superintendent.

Tom Breneman's Widow Left $250,000 Estate

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES, May 20—The $250,000 estate of radio master of ceremonies Tom Breneman has been left to his widow, Billie Dunn Breneman, former actress.

Mrs. Breneman, 45, obtained a court order yesterday for $2,000 a month family allowance from the estate, shortly after the will was admitted for probate. The document, signed Dec. 12, 1946, left the entire state to Mrs. Breneman.

She was appointed guardian of their two children, Gloria, 19, and Tom Jr., 14, as a legal step to insure their inheritance of $10,000 each under an insurance policy.

Breneman died April 28 at the age of 47.

Railroad Network Mileage Diminishing

WASHINGTON — The nation's network of railroad lines has been diminishing steadily for the past 30 years, records of the Interstate Commerce commision show.

Since World War I, the country has lost 27,800 miles of main line railroad track. It resulted from authorized abandonment of certain sections of line no longer considered profitable or necessary operations.

In 1916, railroad mileage in the United States reached its peak with 254,251 miles of main line track. It dropped 11 per cent during the next 30 years to 226,438 miles last year.

TROOPS CALLED AFTER SLAYING OF PICKET

By The Associated Press

WATERLOO, Ia., May 20—National Guardsmen, who moved into the area with fixed bayonets shortly before dawn, patrolled the Rath packing company plant today after CIO packinghouse workers rioted when one of their pickets was shot to death last evening.

Under protection of upwards of 500 guardsmen, a group of 150 non-striking workers isolated in the big independent packing plant when the rioting began were able to go to their homes.

Relative quiet prevailed at the scene where tumult had broken out for two hours last night after UPWA picket William J. Farrell, 40, Waterloo, was killed by a pistol blast from a non-striking worker's car which pickets had stopped at the plant entrance.

A woman picket was wounded in the shoulder, apparently by the same bullet that killed Farrell.

Martial law was not proclaimed.

As guardsmen took over under direction of civil authorities a group of about 50 pickets retreated before the advancing soldiers. They shouted jibes but offered no resistance and gathered in a cluster about a block away where others joined them as the day wore on.

Road blocks were set up on streets leading to the plant. Half tracks and jeeps patrolled the area.

The guardsmen were directed to enforce court orders restricting strike activities in the plant area. To relieve tension the Rath plant shut down its limited operations for today and the man held in the slaying was removed to a secret place.

keep the miners on their jobs for at least 30 days. The union still is under a federal court order forbidding another walkout over the pension dispute. But justice department spokesmen said this injunction does not bar a strike over another issue.

The appeal to the national labor relations board was made by Joseph E. Moody, president of the Southern association.

"The union's refusal (to bargain), said Moody, "endangers the present negotiations for a new contract."

Union and operator representatives at the wage conference deadlocked over the seating of Moody. Lewis promptly announced "there is no conference"—and led his miners out of the room.

Wallace Says He'd Visit Stalin To Gain Peace

By The Associated Press

SAN DIEGO, Calif., May 20—If it would help the cause of peace, Henry A. Wallace would visit Premier Stalin.

Replying to a question from the audience at his speech here last night, the third party presidential candidate declared:

"If I was confident that by going to Moscow and talking to Stalin the cause of world peace would be forwarded, I certainly would go."

Disputing a state department view that it cannot enter negotiations on world issues with Russia, he cited article 33 of the United Nations charter.

The article provides that "parties to any dispute which threatens strife or endangers the peace of the world shall first of all seek solution by negotiations."

"I wonder," said Wallace, "if Secretary Marshall is fully aware of article 33."

search revealed. The men had thrown away their guns.

Quesenberry later admitted to patrolmen, during questioning that they had thrown away an automatic pistol and a nickel-plated revolver before capture. Columbus patrol headquarters also reported finding a blackjack and articles of clothing about a mile and a half west of Dublin along the path of flight.

Combs was taken to the University hospital in Columbus where attendants reported his condition as "fair" today although suffering a possible skull fracture. His condition was such that he will not be able to be moved for several days, it was indicated.

Questioned by authorities in Columbus, Quesenberry refused to talk, the state patrol reported this morning. He did however remark that his buddy was "a bad egg" and had a record. He said Combs was "out on bond" from West Virginia, but did not elaborate, patrol headquarters reported. A teletype message was sent out last night seeking information on the two and authorities are awaiting a reply today.

Deputy Sheriff Edgar Fink who investigated the hold up last night, left for Columbus this morning to bring Quesenberry back to Marion where charges may be filed late today or tomorrow.

SEN. BRIDGES INSISTS ON CUT IN BUDGET

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20 — Sen. Bridges (R-NH) insisted today the Republican - Controlled congress live up to its pledge to trim $2,500,000,000 from President Truman's budget for the year starting July 1.

Bridges said there has been little progress to date toward that goal. He told a reporter he plans to call a special meeting of the senate-house budget committee, which he heads, in a new move to slap the brakes on federal spending.

The New Hampshire senator decided to do that after the senate late yesterday rejected by a 55 to 18 vote a notion to pare $200,000,000 from a bill to provide a record $640,253,200 for next year's waterways program.

The issue was whether to send the bill back to the appropriations committee for pruning.

Twenty-five of his Republican colleagues voted against Bridges and 16 other GOP senators. Sen. Byrd (D-Va) was the only Democrat for recommittal.

Byrd laid some harsh figures before the senate in arguing for the cut. He predicted the government will operate in the red by some $7,000,000,000 to $8,000,000,000 in the year beginning July 1, 1949, and that this deficit will amount to $10,000,000,000 in the following year. He also forecast a deficit for the year beginning this July 1, but he did not estimate the amount.

The "Mata Hari" in the case is Mrs. Galina Dunaeva Biconish (left), married to an American sergeant now in the U. S. The pair left McMillin's quarters together on the night he was packing to leave Russia. He served notice he would remain in the Soviet Union.

OREGON VOTE FIGHT HAS BITTER CLOSING

By The Associated Press

PORTLAND, Ore., May 20 — Oregon's bitterly fought Republican primary campaign drew to an acrimonious close today—last of the presidential primary trials before next month's nominating convention.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, who for three weeks have made Oregon the nation's foremost presidential battleground, brought their campaigns home at a gallop.

Stassen publicly charged an "eastern combination of Taft-Dewey forces" was spending $250,000 in Oregon to stem the Stassen election tide which started in Nebraska and Wisconsin.

The New York governor retorted that this represented "reckless and flagrantly untrue statements," and "desperate irresponsible, eleventh-hour tactics."

His campaign expenses, Dewey said, "are not a tiny fraction" of the ridiculous sum he mentions, and he knows it."

The Minnesotan's reference to a supposed join-up of Dewey and Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio was labeled "unfounded and false."

More than 300,000 Republicans are registered to vote in tomorrow's polls—and the total registration of around 630,000 is the highest in Oregon's history.

PAIR HONEYMOONING IN AUTO LAND IN JAIL

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 20—Two newlyweds ran a red traffic light yesterday and an unusual honeymoon terminated in jail.

Detective Sgt. James Heise identified them as Ralph Bain, 20, and his wife Kathryn, 23, both of McKeesport, Pa. Police charged them with carrying concealed weapons and leaving the scene of an accident.

The couple also admitted, according to Heise, that they financed a honeymoon to St. Louis with $87 secured in holdups of two McKeesport chain groceries. They made the trip in a stolen car, Heise said.

Columbus police arrested them yesterday after two motorists complained that a gunman ordered them to drive on after his car ran into theirs, in crashing a red light.

Kathryn was arrested later. Ralph was found playing cards in a garage early last night.

Lifebuoy with its Purifying Ingredient
GETS SKIN CLEANER
STOPS "B.O." as no other leading soap can!

It's great to be popular! On your job or on dates you always get along better if you're pleasant to have around. A daily Lifebuoy bath gives you top protection from "B.O."—lasting protection 24 hours a day.

DOCTORS PROVED with 820 scientific tests the truth of this amazing statement . . .

The cleaner you get your skin, the doctors found, the safer you are from "B.O." (body odor). Any soap will remove all the grime and perspiration you can see—yet leave "invisible dirt" on your skin to form a foothold for "B.O."!

Doctors compared the effects of daily baths with different soaps. The results are amazing! When you bathe with any other leading soap, you are simply not as clean, not as safe from "B.O." as you are when you bathe with Lifebuoy. After 820 scientific tests doctors say Lifebuoy's purifying ingredient makes the difference! And it is this same purifying ingredient that makes Lifebuoy so mild.

Use Lifebuoy daily. It is made from a special oil blend that gives you such an abundant, refreshing lather. Remember: Lifebuoy gives you cleaner skin . . . stops "B.O." as no other leading soap can!

Roving Reports

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

WHERE does war end and murder begin?

That question is posed today by a stalwart six-foot-two-inch former adjutant of Heinrich Himmler—Col Joachim Peiper, who might in time have taken Adolf Hitler's place.

And it is a hard question to answer—regardless of whether Peiper, who one of his sergeants said wanted to become "the fuehrer of the fourth reich," ultimately is hanged, goes to prison or is freed.

This handsome Nazi soldier—still only 33 years old—is one of 43 German SS troops condemned to death on charges of murdering 750 American soldiers and 150 Belgian civilians during the Battle of the Bulge.

Hal Boyle

Among the victims were more than 70 unarmed members of a U.S. artillery observation battalion, shot down in the infamous "Malmedy massacre."

The death sentences for Peiper and his pals were passed by an international court sitting at Dachau, where the trial judge for hundreds of thousands of German concentration camp prisoners had been the gas chamber.

There was no appeal from the gas chamber. The sentences against the Nazi storm troopers were appealed to the U. S. supreme court which refused to review it on a 4-to-4 decision that it had no jurisdiction.

THIS ONLY POINTS UP again the legal difficulties in assessing war guilt.

Meanwhile Secretary of the Army Kenneth C. Royall has ordered a stay of execution against 17 of the condemned men pending investigation of charges the Nazis had been beaten and forced to confess at "mock" trials in prison by American prosecutors.

The case has an added interest because Peiper was a bold and outstanding soldier for whom some American commanders profess a reluctant off-the-record admiration.

They don't condone the crimes committed by his men. They do recognize his leadership in battle.

One American officer who had been his prisoner, Lt. Col. Hal D. McCown of Rushton, La., even flew the Atlantic to testify in Col. Peiper's defense.

He said the young Nazi officer, when his progress was halted, freed 150 American prisoners and "at no time did I see mistreatment of American prisoners of war."

I REMEMBER interviewing Lt Col McCown near Malmedy a few hours after he got back from capture himself. Peiper, after burning his stranded tanks and guns, had taken off on foot at the head of his column of men and safely led them at night through the American lines.

McCown then—this was in December 1944—spoke of the long philosophic talks he had had with Peiper, who was unbreakable in his Nazi loyalty and contemptuous of American troops.

"Why don't you attack more at night?" he told McCown. "Night is the friend of the strong."

It is hard to remove the "Malmedy massacre" from the scene and the time—and the feeling at that time. I have heard some American officers say it has been overemphasized because an armored column on the march sometimes has to execute prisoners because it has no way to pass them back but can't let them go to signal their own troops ahead.

OUR OWN armored columns on occasion followed this course. Never, however, so far as I know, on the scale the Germans did outside Malmedy. And leaving out the question of the 750 American troops killed, there are still the 150 Belgian civilians. For their deaths it is hard to advance the semblance of a military excuse.

Where does war end and murder begin? Young Col. Peiper, arrogant, brave and self-confident—the man who might have become another Hitler — is the symbol of one unfinished answer.

The shadow of night is upon him.

Greece did not make a glass industry until the 4th Century B.C.

Former Marionite Wins Electrical Prize

Harold Stinehelfer, formerly of Marion recently won a special honor for Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute, Brooklyn, N. It was the first time a student of Brooklyn Institute had won recognition in an AIEE contest. First and second prizes were won by students at Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Mr. Stinehelfer will graduate from the Brooklyn Institute June 9. His parents are graduated from Marion Harding High school and Ohio Wesleyan university. Following his graduation in June, he will accept a position in New York City. He is married.

FOOD PRICES EDGE UPWARD

Retailers Report More Consumer Buying; Production Shows Increase.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 20—Food prices edged a little higher this week. Retailers around the country reported many consumers are buying more groceries. Independent wholesalers said their sales have risen slightly. Food production has increased, particularly in flour and cheese.

Supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables improved at both retail and wholesale levels. They were reported in plentiful supply and generally priced.

Demand for pork increased and poultry purchases were large. Substitutes for meat and butter were in good demand.

Wholesalers said macaroni and spaghetti were selling better. Flour and cereal products were being sold in limited quantities for immediate delivery.

A survey by the American Institute of Food Distribution showed average dollar volume of chains and big retailers 12 per cent above last year, smaller grocers 5 per cent higher, and 89 wholesale grocers 8 per cent higher. The institute said, "Feeling about the business prospect for the next several months was decidedly more optimistic than 10 days or two weeks ago."

The New Jersey department of agriculture made a survey on prices there. It reported food that $1 bought this April could have been bought for 45 cents in August, 1939. The average retail price of 53 essential food items rose 2.27 per cent from March to April this year, the report said.

The European cooperation administration will send Europe $1,800,000,000 of American food in the first year of the aid program. Administrator Paul C. Hoffman said that $62,350,000 of it has already been authorized for purchase of American farm products.

Predict Food Catastrophe

The long-range food outlook was subject to controversy this week.

A Scot farmer, Sir John Boyd Orr, who is retiring as director general of the United Nations food and agriculture organization, said in Geneva that in the race between population and food, population was winning, "and we do not know how to stop it."

He predicted a food catastrophe, saying there are now nearly 200,000,000 more mouths to feed than before the war.

In New York, an agricultural economist, Mrs. Edith J. Hirsh, said such fears were not justified. "After each war the birthrate is temporarily high and food shortages are acute," she said. Within two years we are likely to be complaining about food surpluses, she added.

Band and Orchestra Parents Hold Meeting

Installation of officers for the new year was held when the Harding High school Band and Orchestra Parents Association met Monday night at Harding for its last meeting of the school year. The installation was conducted by John Lacey, a past president.

Ira Halt was installed as president, James Lytle, first vice president, Leonard Young, second vice president, Harry Kaelber, treasurer, Mrs. Robert E. Evans, secretary, Mrs. C. G. Musgrave, Paul Lister, E. E. Banning, R. S. Moore and Homer Huffman, members of the board of directors, and Mrs. John Lacey, membership chairman.

Plans were made for the annual band and orchestra picnic to be held Friday, June 4, at Meadowbrook park near Tiffin. All band and orchestra members and parents are to meet at Harding at 1 p. m. and go in a group from there.

Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Cecil Noble. Several selections were presented by the Harding string ensemble composed of Marjorie Keeler, Connie Jerew, Joan Glassmeyer, Virginia Schertzer and Steve Lacey.

Two Ask Membership In Progressive Grange

Two applications for membership were received when Progressive Grange met Tuesday night in the Grange hall. Mrs. Walter Fetter was appointed to supervise the filling of a sunshine basket for a former resident of the Shrock community, and an announcement was made that the young people of the organization are sponsoring a square dance to be held at the Marion Armory in the near future. During the lecturer's hour, a program of humor was given by Walter McClaskey. At the next meeting, June 1, Mt. Olive Grange will present an exchange program. Named to serve on the refreshment committee for the month of June are Mrs. Orla Barks, Mrs. Harlie Irey, Mrs. Arthur Smith and Mrs. Wilfred McElhaney.

EXAMINER FOR NLRB PLANS GALION VISIT

Conference with Union ... North Electric.

Special to The Star

Galion, May 20—David C. ... field examiner of the ... NLRB regional office in Cleve... come to Galion May 27 ... conference with the ... of the North Electric ... Co. the heads of ... ment Workers union of ... and Mt. Gilead plants, ... representatives of the United Auto Workers (CIO), it was learned today.

It is reported that Finlay ... declared sufficient progress has been made to make it possible to hold an election to determine the bargaining agent for workers of the North company.

Both the IWU and UAW have claimed a membership of a majority of workers.

The UAW-CIO conducted a strike in Galion last fall which began Aug. 20 and ended Nov. 1, with the signing of an agreement between the company and the union. A clause in the agreement made it possible for the IWU to organize, and the UAW-CIO to conduct a cross-check of membership cards with company payroll to determine if it had a majority at the time the strike was called. The cross-check showed a majority for the union.

Since settlement of the strike, the Independent Workers union has claimed a majority of workers in its membership and has asked for an election. According to the strike agreement, negotiations between the company and the UAW were to cease, when or if any group of employes of the company file any petition with the NLRB claiming majority representation of any alleged appropriate Unit.

Commodus Lucius Aelius Aurelius was Emperor of Rome from 161 to 192. Yes, he actually fought and won 1031 battles, and was so proud of his gladiatorial record that he commanded the world to worship him as Hercules. Alas he met his death at the hands of a wrestler named Narcissus who strangled him.

TASS REPORTS RUSSIAN VIEW

Says Leaders Blame Differences on Departure from Roosevelt Policies.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, May 20—Tass says "leading circles" in Russia blame current Soviet-American difficulties on the United States government's departures from the policies of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The official Russian news agency said, in a dispatch distributed last night, it was in a position to report the opinions of these "leading circles" and the belief that the Soviet - American deadlock is the result of the present Washington government's "aggressive attitude."

Under the administration of President Roosevelt, Tass said, "the most difficult international questions," were settled between the United States, Britain and Russia for more than three years.

"The question therefore arises, why now is it considered impossible to reach agreed decisions of the powers on new, less difficult questions? Is it not perhaps because the present government of the U. S. A. has departed from the Roosevelt policy and is pursuing a different policy?

Blames "Aggressive Attitude"

"The Soviet public considers that the situation that has arisen is the result of the aggressive attitude adopted by the present government of the United States of America."

Tass charged the U. S. state department contradicted itself by its negative attitude toward proposals for direct negotiations as contained in an exchange of "open letters" between Prime Minister Stalin and Henry A. Wallace, third party presidential candidate.

This Washington response evoked surprise in Moscow, the news agency said, commenting that while Stalin had addressed his remarks to Wallace the state department, nevertheless, "considered it necessary to make a special statement to the press on J. V. Stalin's reply to Mr. Wallace."

"The attitude of the state department is in complete contradiction to the statement of the U. S. government of May 4," said Tass. That was the day Ambassador W. B. Smith informed Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov U. S. public opinion was solidly behind U. S. government policy, and added that the door was always open for discussion and settlement.

U. S. Stand Re-stated

The official American attitude, expressed again yesterday by Secretary of State George C. Marshall, is that opportunities for Russia to show good faith in settling most of the points at issue already exist and that most of them already are being, or have been, considered by united nations and other agencies.

Officer Ordered To Pay $7,500 for Shooting

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 20—Raymond C. Blake, town marshal in nearby Gahanna must pay $7,500 damages to a California man he shot in both legs, a common pleas court jury decided yesterday.

The plaintiff, Burl M. Burns, 33, of Baldwin Park, Calif., contended the shooting was "unprovoked." Blake said he fired because Burns was fleeing the village mayor's court.

Burns was fined $50 shortly after midnight on May 2, 1946, for a traffic violation. Blake testified Burns then caused a disturbance, was cited for contempt of court and ordered placed in jail.

Burns said he ran from the court because he thought he was going to jail without benefit of an attorney. Blake said he fired once into the air and once at the ground. The second shot struck both of Burns' legs.

Burns, a railroad brakeman employed at Columbus at the time of the incident, said his health was so impaired, he was forced to move to California.

State Officers Home From League Meeting

Mrs. Harold J obs of 428 Forest street, president, and Mrs. James F. Lauer of Prospect, secretary of the state Child Conservation League, have returned from Lakewood and Lorain where they were guests and also attended the Northeast District conference.

On Thursday the state officers attended the Northeast district conference held at Lorain, completing the series of six district meetings, all of which they attended. Following the Lorain conference Mrs. Jacobs and Mrs. Lauer were honor guests at a tea given by Mrs. Holger Ridder, president of the Northeast district, at her home in Lakewood. While attending the conference they were the houseguests of Mrs. Ridder. The largest conference in point of attendance was the Central district meeting at Kenton in April. Marion and adjoining counties are included in Central district.

The state convention will be held at Youngstown in October with headquarters at the Pick Ohio hotel. Members of the Warren federation will be hostesses.

You'll agree that Capudine is wonderfully fast and effective. Relieves so quickly because it's liquid. Follow directions on label.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

PREMIER JOSEF STALIN has listed 11 major problems he thinks this country and Russia can sit down and talk about.

To this idea, the state department has said in effect:

"Wait a minute. Not so fast. They're not new problems. They're old ones. Let's look at the record on each one.

So the department has made public an answer or explanation on each one of the 11. Why? To show that:

They're long-standing, unsolved problems and, in most cases, Russia has either blocked their solution or refused to help solve them.

James Marlow

Henry Wallace, third party presidential candidate, in an open letter to Stalin had listed a number of problems which he said should be a starting point for American-Russian peace talks.

Stalin chose 11 problems from the Wallace list and, in a public reply, said yes, indeed, they would be good starting points.

Below are the 11 Stalin-Wallace points. Following each is the state department's explanation. Material in parenthesis is the writer's.

1. Nations should reduce their armaments—

The United Nations has been considering this since 1946. Result: Zero.

(Russia's Foreign Minister Molotov first proposed world disarmament in October 1946. It's been hanging fire. Since UN hasn't solved atomic control, trying to control other armaments would be a joke.)

2. International control of atomic weapons—

The U. S. offered UN a plan. Russia didn't agree, offered ideas of its own. The U. S. blames Russia for blocking a solution.

3. Reaching a German peace settlement—

The U. S. blames Russia for blocking this.

4. REACHING A JAPANESE peace settlement—

No real peace talks on Japan have begun. The U. S. wanted the talks handled one way, Russia another, China another. Eight nations mixed up in the Japanese peace talks agreed with the U. S. Result: Zero.

5. Getting troops (meaning U. S. troops) out of China—

There are no Russian troops in China but there are about 3,500 American soldiers, sailors and marines there. Why? The Chinese government requested them.

6. Getting troops (U. S. and Russian) out of Korea—

The UN had a plan for getting both nations' troops out. Russia has blocked this by refusing to cooperate.

(After the allies freed Korea from Japan, U. S. troops occupied the southern half, Russian troops the northern half. Both still are there.)

7. Respecting other nations' rights and not interfering in their internal business.

(The state department is vague on this. It says the facts are too well-known to be repeated. Russia has been accused of pressuring its neighbor states which have gone Communist.

(But the U. S. has been accused by Moscow of interfering in Greece's internal affairs by pouring in money and arms to help the present Greek government crush communists.)

8. IT'S WRONG TO SET up military bases in member countries of the UN—

The UN knows where we have set up bases. We've told UN. It's all in keeping with UN rules and regulations. We've set up bases only in those countries which said we could.

9. Developing international trade—

After two big international conferences—at Geneva and Havana in 1947 and 1948—the U. S. and 54 other nations signed agreements for better world trade. Russia refused to take part.

10. Helping countries which suffered from the war—

Under the Marshall plan the U. S. is helping 16 European nations. They asked us to do it that way. Russia thinks it should be done through UN. But Russia has refused to take part in the Marshall plan.

11. Human rights—

The UN is working on this now. With the U. S. and Russia taking part.

Adding all these together, the state department has publicly told Stalin:

If you're sincere in wanting to settle these problems, then get to work and settle them.

That's the American viewpoint, of course. The Russians will argue on their side just as strenuously that they're right and we're wrong.

Spanish War Veterans Will Meet in Kenton

Members of Marion Camp No. 32, United Spanish War Veterans, will attend the quarterly meeting of the Northwestern Boosters association to be held Sunday at Kenton.

Registration will be at the courthouse at 10 a. m. and the meeting will get under way at 11 o'clock. The afternoon session is scheduled for 2 p. m. Business will include a discussion of the department encampment to be held June 20-23 at Dayton. The meeting will be held at the Armory.

ORDINANCE BANS PEDDLERS

UPPER SANDUSKY, May 20—A new ordinance banning "peddlers" and door to door salesmen in Upper Sandusky has been passed as an emergency measure, effective immediately, by the municipal council here. The heading of the ordinance reads, "To declare the practice of going in and upon private residences in Upper Sandusky by solicitors, peddlers, hawkers, itinerate merchants and transient vendors of merchandise, not having been invited to do so by the owner or owners, occupant or occupants of said private residence, to be a nuisance." Fines of from $25 to $100 were set for violations of the ordinance.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 20—Prices moved over a narrowly irregular range in today's early stock market. The undertone, though, was steady.

Trading declined still further and the appearance of large blocks of stocks on the ticker tape was more infrequent. United Corporation, however, opened fractionally higher on a block of 2,000 shares while Canadian Pacific lost a fraction on a lot of 2,500.

Central of New Jersey topped the balance of the list with a 2½ point gain to a new high for the year.

Gaining fractions were Sinclair Oil, Standard Oil (NJ), Santa Fe, Northern Pacific, U. S. Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Sears Roebuck, United Aircraft and Du Pont.

In the minus column were Bethlehem, Republic Steel, Goodyear, American Telephone, Kennecott Copper, American Can, Owens Illinois, American Woolen, Southern Pacific, Texas Co., Gulf Oil, and American Tobacco.

Cubs Open 12-Game Home Stand Tonight After Losing to Dodgers, 8-2

Bruins Hope Home Play Will Change Luck—Newark 1st Foe

The failing Marion Cubs, only a step out of the bottom of the Ohio-Indiana league after Zanesville pitcher Bill Purcell set them down on four hits last night in winning 8-2 the second game of the series at Zanesville, open a 12-game home stand at Lincoln park tonight.

The opponent at 7:45 will be the Newark Yankees, who bested them, 3-2 in the weekend series, at Yankeeland.

Need Change of Luck

The unfortunate Bruins are hoping that playing in the home town will bring a change of luck, and they've taken more than their share of ill-luck on the road trips this season.

They lost the services of Manager Zeke Bekeza for six weeks on the first journey away from home when his hand was broken, and they lost forever his replacement, Bob Osgood, who was taken by death.

They have lost five out of the last seven games, which have all been played on the road.

Purcell, a right-hander making his first start in professional baseball, gave the Zanesville Dodgers a clean sweep of the two game series.

Arriving at Zanesville shortly before game time Purcell took the hill and hurled no hit ball until Lee Bohlander opened the sixth with a hit off Purcell's left after two infield outs. Bob Shuford singled to right to score Bohlander.

Nick Alivojvodick, Marion pitcher, opened the eighth with a home run over the left field fence while Lou Castrovince got the Cub's fourth hit—a double with one out in the ninth.

The Dodgers belted Alivojvodick for nine hits and received six bases on balls. The Marion pitcher issued four walks and gave up two hits in the seventh when Zanesville scored five runs.

Walt Lindsay, Zanesville second baseman was chased by Umpire Heinlen in the seventh after he was called out for failing to touch third base when attempting to score on Bill Gill's double.

MUNCIE CONTINUES ON WINNING STREAK

By The Associated Press

The torrid Muncie Reds continued their winning streak in the Ohio-Indiana league last night, improving their first place lead by nicking third-place Portsmouth, 3-2.

Lima advanced to sixth by outslugging last-place Newark, and Zanesville moved up into a fourth place tie with Richmond, the Dodgers taking Marion, 8-2, and the Braves going under to Springfield, 12-3.

Muncie scored three runs in the first inning and made them hold up for a second straight win over Portsmouth. Southpaw Leonard Luebbers was the winner, giving him a 2-0 record.

Richmond jumped to a 2-0 lead over Springfield, but the Ohioans took command in the second inning and never were headed. Centerfielder Ray Berns paced the attack with four singles.

Lima clinched its win over Newark with an eight-run fifth inning. Fourteen Lima players batted in that frame.

BROADWAY HAS NEW LOVE--COALTOWN

By International News Service

NEW YORK, May 20—Broadway has a new love today.

It's a horse and his name is Coaltown—a three year old son of Bull Lea-Easy Lass owned by the Calumet stable.

Thousands of punters who saw him tow-rope a classy field in the seven furlong Swift stakes at Belmont yesterday are convinced he's the fastest thing on four legs. Faster even than his more famous stablemate, Citation

Jockey Pierson, the granite faced Texan who rode Coaltown to a romping six lengths victory over My Request, said today he never had the colt out of a pull.

"Coaltown doesn't run: he flies," said the jockey. "That race was just a good warm-up for him."

The colt turned in a smashing :12.2 for the seven panels which actually was better time than ever made before on this track for that distance.

So great was the interest in Coaltown that several jockeys not riding in the race, including Eddie Arcaro, Ted Atkinson, and Con McCreary, crossed the track to the infield and climbed a tower in their monkey suits to see him run.

Thousands of punters passed up the race because they didn't want to take the $2.20, $2.10 and $2.10 he returned.

Enough of them bet him to force an $8 minus place pool and more than $10,000 minus show pool.

School Ticket-Selling Campaign Slated To End Friday

Tomorrow noon marks the end of the benefit baseball ticket sales campaign launched in the city schools May 11. The contest has not been going at the pace anticipated and may be run for an additional week or so.

Students at St. Marys and Harding High schools, and Vernon, Central, Edison and St. Mary Junior High schools were given tickets to sell to the Marion Cubs-Portsmouth Athletics baseball game June 5. All receipts were to go to the schools' Booster Clubs for the betterment of athletics.

In addition to the good to be done the schools, prizes will be given the leading salesmen at each school as well as a valuable diamond ring to the top salesman in the city. The prizes were donated by city merchants and include rings, watches and sports equipment with a total value of approximately $600.

While others have been having a little trouble in getting rid of their tickets, Paul J. Menzer Jr., a junior at Harding, has by far surpassed the field.

Young P. J.'s sales to date are a secret but he still has plans for selling more. He said today that he sold most of his tickets by going to the presidents of Marion's factories and arranging to talk with their employes, giving them the details of the campaign and outlining the benefits to be derived by the schools. He started with an initial allotment of 15 tickets. If he wins the $125 first prize, he said he would like to exchange it for a pair of watches — one for his mother and one for himself or keep it until he is older.

No Check Made

An accurate check has not been made at most of the schools as some of the students are holding their sales funds until the final day. But closest competition to Menzer's record seems to come from Jerome Jackson, Joseph Lupica, and Tom Huber with 49, 36 and 34 ticket sales respectively, all of St. Mary Junior High. Joe Buettin of Vernon has sold 35 tickets. Other schools have not given individual sales, but it is thought that total figures hover around $100.

If the contest is not continued in the schools, sales will be turned over to the Booster clubs who will probably launch a campaign of their own.

BACK-PEDALING REDS IN OLD LOSING FORM

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 20—The back-pedaling Cincinnati Reds, whose latest victorious effort was a two out of three series with Chicago, have returned to form. They lost their second straight to the New York Giants, yesterday, 5-0.

Larry Jansen was the shutout victor. In registering his fourth win of the season, he doled out seven Redleg hits and was in trouble only in the sixth inning.

The Giants collected only eight hits from starter Kent Peterson and his successor, Red Lively, but they included home runs by Whitey Lockman and Bill Rigney. Lockman clubbed his third of the season in the opening frame with the bases empty, and Rigney got his in the sixth with one aboard.

After Lockman's first inning homer, the Giants picked up two more counters in the fifth. Rigney drew a walk and moved over to third on Lockman's double. A long fly by Johnny Mize plated Rigney before Willard Marshall sent Lockman home with a double.

The New York Giants took advantage of another fine pitching job by Larry Jansen, who curved the ball past Cincinnati for a 5-0 victory. Whitey Lockman and Bill Rigney hit homers for the Giants.

Boston uncovered a new rookie, Vern Bickford, who may have an important bearing on the race. Bickford, making his first start, limited Pittsburgh to five hits in a 4-1 victory.

BOB FELLER
"How To Pitch"

Feller Throws Book at A's

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, O., May 20 — Bob Feller, pitcher and author, threw the book at the Philadelphia Athletics last night.

Feller's new tome is titled "How To Pitch," so the Cleveland Indians' fireballer proceeded to give the pesky Athletics a practical review of its contents by twirling a three-hit 6 to 1 victory.

Bob had a one-hit shutout until the ninth and faced only 25 batters in the first eight innings, only one more than par for the course.

Up to that final round, 33,871 customers talked of the 10 one-hitters and the two no-hitters Feller has pitched in the past. And they remarked that if it had not been for Buddy Rosar's infield single in the third, they might be witnessing a historic occasion—the third no-hitter.

The Athletics routed Feller in the fourth inning at Philadelphia 12 days ago.

Rosar's single in the third was a hard grounder which Keltner knocked down. He retrieved it and threw to first, but his peg hit the dirt.

Bob missed his one-hitter and shutout in the ninth when Pete Suder singled and scored on Eddie Joost's double.

Feller's triumph last night gave him five wins and two losses for the season.

The victory was the second straight over the Athletics and gave the pace setting Indians a half-game lead over the pesky Mackmen.

The Tribesmen picked up one run in the third inning on a single by Jim Hegan, a sacrifice and a single by Thurman Tucker. The Indians then blasted starter Bill Dietrich off the mound with a five-run uprising in the fifth.

Standard Oil, Osgood, OAT Win Industrial Loop Openers

Standard Oil softballers jumped on Quaker Oats for 17 hits at McKinley park last night to win their opener in the Industrial league No. 2, 25-7.

The Oilers scored 12 runs in the first frame and 10 in the second before the Oats settled down to halt the onslaught.

In other Industrial league openers, Osgood downed OAT, 5-3, and OPS nicked Oswalt, 18-9.

Winterstellier scored all three of the OAT runs, and hit one of the two three-base hits of the game. Thorp smashed the other.

OPS came from behind in the sixth inning to overpower Oswalt with a six-run uprising. They added another half-dozen in seventh.

Industrial league No. 1 opens on three fronts tonight. Huber meets Universal Cooler at Garfield, Fairfield takes on Follak Steel at the Marion Power Shovel diamond and Commercial Steel meets MPS at McKinley. All games start at 6:15 p. m.

MILWAUKEE TAKES AA'S 3RD PLACE

By The United Press

Milwaukee was in third place in the American Association today after sweeping a three-game series from Minneapolis.

The Brewers edged a half game ahead of the Millers and 3½ games from the lead by defeating Minneapolis, 9 to 6, last night. It was the third successive defeat by the Brews at Milwaukee and dropped Minneapolis from the challenging spot to fourth place.

St. Paul continued to pace the league on its smashing 11-to-5 victory over tailend Kansas City, and Indianapolis beat Toledo, 4 to 2. Columbus shaded Louisville, 5 to 4, to complete last night's schedule.

Ed Bahr, who was with the Pittsburgh Pirates last season, scattered 10 Mudhen hits to take the contest for Indianapolis at Toledo.

At Columbus, the Red Birds came from behind in the final inning to take the win from Louisville. The Colonels led 5-4 going into the last half of the ninth but Bill Zuzer and "Fireman" Johnny McCall couldn't hold the birds.

It's A Battle Royal Tonight

Five of the best boys in the wrestling world will take part in the battle royal at the Marion Armory tonight. This "Mat Massacre" has also been very popular here and this one should top them all for the five men are, Bill Murray, the Canadian, Silent Rattan, great Mute grappler from Kansas City, Gene Blakely, Texan who can hand out plenty of punishment, Jack Terry, great English grappler who hasn't shown here for over a year and Bill Sledge, another tough Texan. All five will enter the ring and the first man to get beat goes to the showers, the next two to get their shoulder pinned return for the semi-final and last two left in the ring come back in the two-hour main event. All bouts are two out of three falls.

Harding Ends Track Season With Win Over Two Schools

Harding High scored a total of 68 1-3 points in first place in a three-way track meet with Upper Arlington and Grandview here Tuesday with 68 1-3 points.

Meeting on the Upper Arlington track the locals defeated Grandview with 48 2-3 and Grandview trailed with 31. It was the final meet of the season for the Peppies and they ran away capturing five firsts of 14 events. They gained their winning points by placing two and three men in most events. Upper took seven firsts and one tie for first, while Grandview won only one event and tied for one.

Dick Umbaugh, running in the mile quarter mile, tied the Harding school record of 57 seconds made by Dale Hudson in 1939. Bob Dickason, running in the mile event for the first time, set a new record for Harding although Tom of Grand Jct won the event. The winning time was 4:37 and Dickason's time was 4:38.5.

Other highlights of the meet saw Crowder better his old high jump mark by clearing the bar at 5-4½", Sherman, Bain Taylor and Hypes won the mile relay in a tight finish, with Grandview ace quarter miler, and Hypes battling to break the tape, and Clarence Smith defeating Jack Guthrie of Upper Arlington in the shot to gain revenge for a defeat handed him by Guthrie in the district track meet last Saturday.

Except for Smith's participation in the State meet at Ohio State university this Saturday in the shot put event Harding's track schedule is ended for the season.

GIVES CITY BEAUTY PLANS

GALION, May 20 — Several ways in which Galion can be beautified were outlined in a talk by Robert Quinn, landscape architect, when he addressed the Galion Kiwanis club this week. Mr Quinn suggested that Galion take better care of its trees; that the eastern approach to the city be brought through East Church street by extending this street, that Amann reservoir be developed into a recreational area, and that a playground be constructed in the south side of the city. His talk was followed by discussion.

HAMILTON, HOGAN SHARE PGA LEAD

Sure Putting Puts Former Champs Out Front.

By The Associated Press

ST LOUIS, May 20—Two former champions, Bob Hamilton and little Ben Hogan, shared the lead with five-under-par 66s at the start of today second and final 18 holes of qualifying play in the 30th Professional Golfers Association tournament.

Sure putting and accurate approaches to the greens of the 6,467 yard Norwood Hills country club put the pair in the lead.

Hamilton, 1944 titlist, turned in a 25 putt job.

Hogan, of Hershey, Pa., who won the crown in 1946, used only 29 putts. Long putts accounted for three of his five birdies.

Gene Sarazen of Germantown, N. Y., and former Masters champion Herman Keiser of Akron, O., each needed only 30 putts for 67's.

Burning a measly 29 putts for the day were Ed (Porky) Oliver, Kenmore, Wash and Sammy Snead, the White Sulphur Springs, W Va, clammer, who shared 68's with Jimmie Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Pete Cooper, Ponte Vedra, Fla.

Big Jim Ferrier, the defending champion, who didn't have to qualify, stroked through a 36-34—70 round just to get the "feel of the course."

All told, 25 of the 133 starters yesterday bettered or equalled regulation figures for the tournament stretch.

A qualifying score of about 150 appeared to be the order for the 63 players who will join Ferrier in match play Friday for the top $4,500 prize. The final match of 36 holes is scheduled for next Tuesday.

Legion Junior Baseball Meeting Slated Tonight

The big meeting of the American Legion Junior baseball hopefuls takes place in Central Junior High school's auditorium at 8 o'clock tonight.

Between 150 and 200 boys have already signed up for the Legion's summer program, and more are expected to enroll during tonight's meeting, part of which will be devoted to collecting registrations.

First practice tryouts will be held Monday, May 24, and the first game will be played June 6.

To Use Lincoln Park

The Marion Baseball Club Co has given the Legion Juniors permission to use Lincoln park for all their home games, of which 11 are tentatively scheduled.

Also meeting tonight are representatives of the American Legion's Sixth Ohio district, who will set up the schedules for the district's Junior Baseball league. They are meeting in Delaware.

The Junior Legion team is being sponsored again this year by Burd-McGinnis Post and the Lincoln-Mercury Motor Sales.

All boys in the county under 17 years of age are eligible to play on the Marion team, provided their own towns don't have teams. So far, only a handful of county boys have sent in entries.

Tonight's Program

Two baseball movies will be shown at the Central Junior High school meeting tonight and representatives of the local American Legion post and the Ford Motor Co will be present.

W. E. Orcutt, manager of the Junior Legion team, and Nelson Irvin, coach, will represent the Legion, and Ralph Shick of the Lincoln-Mercury Sales, and a Ford agent will also be on the program.

UNAVOIDABLE CIRCUMSTANCES HAVE FORCED A CHANGE IN OUR DECISION TO ACCEPT ADDITIONAL GAS SPACE HEATING

The coal strike, affecting deliveries of steel pipe, and possible allocations of gas to other areas by the Federal Power Commission threaten the additional gas which we have contracted for use in the winter of 1948-49.

To protect our present customers and to avoid a bad situation becoming worse, we have decided not to release approvals for any additional gas home heating beyond this date.

Our plans for next winter included accepting additional gas space heating equal to half of the new homes to be constructed this year and an equal number of homes heating with other fuels to be converted to gas heating. This action was provided by the permissive order of The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio. Our ability to handle this additional heating was based upon estimates that our gas supply by February 1, 1949 would be such that we could meet the demands of a zero day with a gross shortage of 68 million cubic feet of gas. Industrial curtailment would have offset much of this shortage.

From information we have received most recently, we face a possible shortage of gas on a zero day next winter of 85 million cubic feet, without accepting any additional jobs for gas space heating. This figure is considerably beyond the volume that industry can be curtailed.

We have a contract with the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Company for 50 million cubic feet of gas per day. Of this gas, 25 million a day was subject to cancellation upon approval of the Federal Power Commission. After lengthy hearings, the Federal Power Commission denied Panhandle the right of cancellation but we have been receiving only 25 million cubic feet a day from this source. To furnish the additional 25 million cubic feet awarded by the Federal Power Commission, Panhandle claims that its customers in other areas must be curtailed. This matter now is being heard by the F.P.C. and, until it is determined, this amount of gas is uncertain.

The United Fuel Gas Company, an affiliated property of Columbia Gas System, is one of our chief out-of-state sources of gas. United, in turn, receives much of its gas from Texas through the Tennessee Gas Transmission Corporation. Last winter United Fuel Gas received about 180 million cubic feet of gas a day from the Tennessee lines. Delivery schedules called for this amount increasing to 350 million by December 1, 1948. A few days ago Columbia System was notified that 275 million was the most that could be delivered, due to delays in receiving steel pipe needed to handle all the gas promised. The United Fuel Gas Company has been forced to make proportionate cuts in delivery to us as a result of this.

The Ohio Fuel Gas Company has contracted for approximately half of the gas that can be furnished by the "Inch" lines. Approximately one-half of any diversions from this source is taken from us. For about a year The Federal Power Commission has allocated to other areas, 20 million cubic feet of gas a day from these lines, which reduces daily deliveries to us by 10 million cubic feet. Restoration of this 10 million delivery to us is uncertain.

Yes, lots more gas was contracted for next winter, but adding up the cuts and uncertainties we still arrive at a shortage of 85 million cubic feet of gas on a day of zero temperature without accepting any additional space heating.

Meanwhile, much of the gas from these described sources which was counted upon for underground storage this summer, to be drawn upon next winter, will not be available.

Our representatives have worked ceaselessly in hearings before the Federal Power Commission and will continue to try to protect the gas we have contracted for the use of our customers. Numerous attempts have been made even to help our suppliers find steel pipe.

We regret deeply the conditions which necessitated withholding the applications for space heating filed with us during April. When future conditions permit an easing of restrictions, these applications will be given first consideration. This offers little hope for next heating season because it is unlikely we can cut through the many, present uncertainties before winter.

Woman's Bible Class Meets at Parr Home

The Woman's Bible class of Wesley Methodist church was entertained Tuesday night at the home of Mrs. Susie Parr of 210 Good street. Mrs. Cora Desmuke, president, presided for the meeting which opened with the group singing of the song "This Is My Father's World." J. O. McKinney, chaplain, was in charge of devotions, and prayer was given by Mrs. Ola Lauderback.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Addie McGinnis, included readings by Mrs. Olive Upton, Mrs. Maude Roberts and Mrs. Nora Wigbert, and a vocal duet by Mrs. Benjamin Bush and Mrs. Effie McCreary. The closing prayer was by Mrs. Electa Wilfong. Refreshments were served by Mr. Parr and her associate hostess, Mrs. McCreary.

TRAPPED UNDERGROUND 80 HOURS. Rescued from a coal black 'grave,' Peter Gordon (arrow), 35-year-old miner is hauled from a flooded mine at Shamokin, Pa., where he and two others were trapped 175 feet underground for 80 hours. Gordon's head is blanketed to keep light from his eyes. Edward Heck, 42, was also brought to the surface, but Charles Bevans, 42, third member of the trio, drowned.

Skin Rash Stubborn To Cure

MANY skin rashes are accompanied by itching. For the patient, this may be the most troublesome symptom. Furthermore, itching presents a problem for the doctor because the scratching which it causes often further irritates the skin and brings about serious complications in the way of a secondary infection with germs.

The fact that hives or urticaria—an allergic disorder due to sensitivity to certain foods or drugs—itches almost unbearably, has given rise to a series of studies which may result in a new remedy against the itching of other types of skin rashes.

Allergic patients develop large amounts of a drug called histamine in the blood and tissues. Normally present in the body in very small quantities, it increases markedly during an allergic attack. Thus an effort has been made to discover drugs which will combat or get rid of this histamine. Two such preparations are pyribenzamine and benadryl. They are called anti-histamine drugs.

When used in the treatment of hives, it was found that the, relieved the itching completely in about three out of four cases and also speeded up the cure of the rash.

This led to the trial of pyribenzamine in other skin disorders that are accompanied by itching. While less effective here than in hives, nevertheless it brought relief in one-third of the cases of eczema in which it was tried. When used together with local applications to the skin. In eczema of babies there was some decrease in the itching in about four out of ten instances.

When the pyribenzamine does not work, benadryl should be tried because in some cases often when one of these drugs does not help, the other may be effective.

Pyribenzamine is also useful in the itching around the lower opening of the bowel, as well as in a type of skin inflammation known as seborrhea dermatitis in which there is a scaly eruption and in skin inflammation due to

NEW CIRCUS FEATURE. Topping the list of newly-imported features for this season in the performances of the Cole Brothers Circus, coming to the Drake showgrounds May 26 for afternoon and night performances are the "Aussies from England," an all-girl troupe of whirlwind acrobats who are making their first tour of this country. They have taken their place among the galaxy of features highlighting the most outstanding program in all Cole Brothers' history.

Billed over all Europe as "the world's greatest troupe of girl tumblers," the Aussies have amazed thousands with their sensational acrobatic feats. Together with the Wallabys, still another newly imported feature this year, they are the only all-girl troupes of acrobats in the world.

Finds Ag Teachers Prefer To Run Farms

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 20—Graduates of agriculture colleges find it's more profitable to farm than to teach others how to farm.

State Education Director Clyde Hissong noted yesterday a shortage of vocational agriculture teachers. He said it is likely to last through 1950.

"A major factor in the shortage," Dr. Hissong said, "is that many former teachers did not return to teaching after the war because of higher incomes in other agricultural fields, including farming."

The state department of education is concerned," he said, "because teachers cannot be supplied to reopen more than 100 departments now closed because of the teacher shortage, and in addition, supply teachers to 50 schools that have registered approval of new departments."

IBERIA SENIORS MARK GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Special to The Star

IBERIA, May 20—"Take care of yourself—the world will need you some day," said Dr. Homer B. Henderson, United Presbyterian pastor of 46 years, to an audience of 500 at the Iberia High school golden anniversary commencement exercises last week. "A sacred burden is the life you bear. The world of tomorrow depends on you. You are the world builders, the citizens, the educators, the churchmen and the parents of tomorrow."

Dr. Henderson served as moderator of the United Presbyterian church of North America in 1940. During the first world war he set up the YMCA work in France, serving as general secretary.

Mrs. Clele Smith Rusk, a classmate and graduate of 1898, introduced the speaker.

Following the precessional by Elgar, Rev. Raymond Kent gave the invocation; Evelyn Sager read the salutatory for Joanne Braden, who was stricken with pneumonia earlier in the day; Mary Freeman gave the co-valedictory, "History of Iberia," Ruth Ann Thatcher the "Golden Anniversary of Iberia School." The boys' quartet, Lyle Mann, Everett McClarren, Arden Garverick, and Dick Hendershot, sang.

Supt. Earl E. Bowman presented awards to Donald McDonald and Mary Freeman for the Morrow county scholarship tests. Jeanette Phillips received a music award.

Edward Hall, president of the board of education, presented diplomas to graduates Joanne Braden, Kenneth Ernst, Mary Freeman, Arden Garverick, Artis Gundrum, Dick Hendershot, Frankie Kleffman, Lyle Mann, Barbara Mathias, Velma Merwine, Everett McClarren, Donald McDonald, Grover Nelson, Eugene Osborne, Jeanette Phillips, Helen Roesch, Evelyn Sager, and Ruth Ann Thatcher.

Miss Lee Pickens presented the school band in two selections.

Graduates of 50 years ago were Dr. Homer B. Henderson, Clele Smith Rusk, and Jamie Williamson, deceased.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way:

Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Russians Lay Claim To More Inventions

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 20 — The Soviet news agency Tass reports two more pages today in the world's log of invention.

It said the Russian Lodygin invented the electric bulb, Yablochkov the floodlight, Ussagin the transformer, and Lazarenko and his wife electric welding.

A Tass report last night said the Russians were the first to use steel in girders, among other things. Previously the Russians have claimed Russian origin for radio, radar, the steam engine, the jet engine and periscope.

U.S. WHEAT SUPPORT SOON TO BOOST PRICE

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 20—The government soon will boost wheat support prices an average of 15 to 17 cents a bushel over present minimum levels.

Agriculture department officials indicated yesterday that the support price for 1948-crop wheat—on the farm—will average between $1.98 and $2 a bushel. This compares with a national average of $1.83 for the 1947 crop.

The support price is required by law. It must be not less than 90 per cent of the parity price of wheat as of June 15. If the mid-June parity price is the same as that for mid-April—the last parity price that has been determined—the minimum support price for wheat would average $1.98 nationally.

While the support price for wheat will be higher, users of the grain may not pay more for this year's crop than last year's. The 1947 crop sold for an average of $2.31 a bushel, the highest on record and about 48 cents above the support level.

The agriculture department said today 1948 crop wheat may drop to or slightly below support levels shortly after harvest.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

SOMETIMES I think my small daughter, Faith, is positively diabolical in her ability to move so quietly that she often appears in a room without anyone's hearing her entrance.

How long had she been standing in the living room doorway? How much had she heard? These were the questions that flashed across my mind after the first shock of hearing her question. "What wedding?" But even as I heard Dicky give a little cough, his signal that he would answer her query, Katharine calmed my fears with a "prison-fashion" murmur in my ear.

"She opened the door just before she spoke," she said. "I saw her."

I gave a sigh of relief, and settled back in my chair to listen to Dicky as he dealt with our small daughter.

"Come over here, and I'll tell you," he said, and she made a dash for the shelter of his arms. As she reached them, Katharine also was there with a light afghan which she had caught up from the couch. She tucked it around the child with deft fingers, and returned to her couch. I knew that she, Mary, Harry and Lillian were as much on edge as I was to see how Dicky would deal with Faith's sudden knowledge of the secret which she was not supposed to know until she should reach the safety of the farmhouse.

"We're planning Don Quixote's wedding," Dicky told Faith gravely, and I saw that the lips of the others were twitching as were mine as we remembered Dicky's remark that "Georgy Porgy really has a fraction of a claim on another ancient, honorable, if laughter-provoking title."

"Who's Don Kee-oti?" Faith demanded, sitting up with her hands against her father's chest, and her face alive with avid interest.

"Hasn't your mother told you the story about him?" Dicky asked, looking accusingly at me, and I knew that he was "stalling for time."

"No, nor neither have you," his small daughter answered, not impudently, but in matter-of-fact tones that made it difficult for us to control our laughter muscles.

"I guess that will snaffle you to the hitching post for a brief space of time," Harry Underwood said, and Faith turned her head quickly.

"What does sna!-fle—to-the-hitching-post mean?" she asked, and Dicky's chuckle gave us a chance to calm our twitching lips while he egged Faith on.

"Uncle Harry can explain that to you very nicely," he assured her. "You might ask him also if he knows what 'come-uppance' means. He's just had one."

"Of course, darling," the big man said unctuously. "I shall be glad to answer any question of yours at any time. But, just now, there isn't time. Your daddy is waiting to tell you about Don Quixote, and he never would forgive me for interrupting him. That would be impolite, you know."

"Yes, I know," Faith said trustfully, turning back to her father. "And I'm all ready to listen to you. But why did you shake your fist at Uncle Harry, Daddy?"

Dicky's lower jaw sagged perceptibly, for his small daughter had been looking at Harry and not at him when he had made the jocular gesture.

Faith's face was suddenly impish.

"You thought I didn't see you, didn't you, Daddy?" she asked with a giggle. "But you forgot that there's a mirror over on that wall, and I saw you shake your fist at Uncle Harry, just as plain."

"But why did you do it, Daddy?" she went on with limpid eyes. "Did Uncle Harry do anything to make you mad? What was it he did, Daddy?"

"He didn't do anything," Dicky said, his voice savage, while his friend's smile resembled that of the Cheshire Cat's. "I was just funning."

"I know," Faith said sagely. "The boys do that sometimes to me. But who is don Kee-o-ti going to marry? Cousin Olina?"

Take Your Choice, Neighbor!

The missus—who writes our Woman's Column in the Clarion under the name of "Nancy Gale"—gets letters about recipes, advice on etiquette, home management, etc.

One letter she got last week was about a recipe she published for Welsh Rarebit—made with tart cheese, Worcestershire, and a cup of sparkling tangy beer. "Turned out great," says her correspondent. "But you didn't mention what beverage to serve with it. Should I serve beer? Cider? Iced tea?"

The missus' answer was simply: "Any beverage your guests prefer. You don't have to serve cider—any more than you have to serve beer ... but it's often courteous to let guests have a choice."

From where I sit that simple answer applies to more items than Welsh Rarebit. In a world where everyone has different tastes and ideas—we should recognize those differences—and never deny the right of choice to anyone!

WONDER ABOUT CAR GEAR SHIFT

...tive Circles Speculate ...evrolet Plans for Auto... ...tic Transmission.

By DAVID J. WILKIE
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT, May 20—Automo... are speculating right ...nether Chevrolet will ...tic transmissions as ...quipment on its 1949 ...

...secret that the big- ...ar producers has done ...perimental work on a ... transmission. Every ...facturer has tried out ...e of them. Since the ...ever, only one wholly ...functioning transmission ...been introduced—the ...que converter.

...the type Chevrolet re... ...s been trying out. ...facturing costs, which ...termine the prace to the ...have been deterring ... wider use of several ... of transmissions. If ...adapts one of its 1949 ... would be first in the ...ar field to do so.

An Automatic Transmission

...s not planning an auto... ...transmission on any of its ...cars, but it is virtually cer... ...to have one on the 1950 line. ...ac, with the benefit of the experience of Oldsmobile, Cadillac and Pontiac with hydra-matic and Buick with the torque converter type, may decide to beat Ford to public introduction of some form of automatic or self-functioning transmission.

In any event, trade sources say, Chevrolet has certainly something in the making—an engineering or styling change—to offer competitively with the completely new Ford scheduled for introduction next month.

Hydra-matic, which Oldsmobile brought out in 1940, has a step-by-step type of gear shift. There is no shift in the torque converter type; acceleration is constant from start to top speed.

Changeover Expected

Chevrolet, of course, is not disclosing any of its new model planning. It is the only one of the General Motors passenger car divisions that does not now have an automatic transmission. Trade quarters believe that by the time 1950 models are brought out every car manufacturer will offer some type of automatic acceleration.

Manufacturing costs for the various types of advanced transmissions have gone up like all other car components since the war. Nevertheless all car makers have had test vehicles on the road with step-by-step gear shifts, torque converters, electric and hydraulic shifting devices and other forms of speed acceleration without driver effort.

The road test generally are being made in cross-country runs designed to encounter varying driving conditions.

Most Changes In Styling

Aside from the adoption of automatic transmissions by more of the car makers and the redesigning of power plants, most of the changes in the 1949 models will be in the styling of the car bodies and fenders.

The styling trend already has been pretty well defined in the postwar models already brought out. It is a fairly safe prediction that the cars still to come this year will emphasize the low silhouette and the straight lines of that trend.

Incidentally the men who created the "new look" in postwar passenger automobiles already are at work on 1950 and 1951 models. Of course these models still are on paper and subject to a lot of changes but many of the drawings suggest the long, low lines of the current new models.

200 ATTEND EVENT OF 2 ROTARY CLUBS

Special to The Star

GALION, May 20—A humorous talk by a world renowned after-dinner speaker, good music, good food and good fellowship, were combined to provide an outstanding meeting of the year when the Galion Rotary club was host to the Bucyrus Rotary club and Rotary Anns of the two towns Tuesday nigh at the Greenlawn, near here. About 200 were present.

James Gheen of New York City gave bits of philosophy in his after-dinner talk, telling the group that all humor is based upon error, and that we laugh at people because they are wrong, not because they are right. With this introduction, he proceeded to prove his point and kept his listeners in laughter.

Invocation was given by Rev. Paul Walter of the Galion club, and dinner music was furnished by Ted Rehl, Galion pianist.

Walter Gosborn, president of the Galion club, extended greetings to the guests, and introduced officers and their wives of both Galion and Bucyrus clubs, and the guests.

The speaker was introduced by W. Y. McCulloch of the Galion club who was in charge of the program.

At the close of the meeting, Ernest Pfleiderer, president of the Bucyrus club, thanks the host club.

Farmer Recovering From Injuries in Field

With the aid of his wife, who was helping him when the tractor overturned, and with his directions, the tractor was lifted off him with a truck. Mr. Murphy suffered severe lacerations of the head, crushed arm and severe muscle bruises in the back and shoulder. He was treated at the home of a LaRue physician and then removed to his home. The accident occurred May 11 when Murphy was moving a building with the tractor.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 50 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

SIGRID UNDSET, born May 20, 1882, won the Nobel prize for literature in 1928. The honor was based largely on her books about the Middle Ages. Since that time she has become a Roman Catholic and her books more often have modern themes. Some critics say she has been less effective with modern settings. A Norwegian, she came to America when driven out by Nazis in World War II. Her books were burned in Hitler Germany.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

There seems to be some doubt whether Cupid or Communists got one of our men in Moscow . . . Both are excellent propagandists.

* * *

Moscow claimed a victory for Marx but our state department says "Das love" not "Das kapital."

* * *

But the news that a sergeant had deserted for love amazed many former privates . . . They are certain it was not their sergeant.

* * *

But it just shows what a career man in the state department has to contend with these days . . . Anything up to apologizing for somebody else's wedding.

* * *

Still . . . I don't know that a sergeant who has eloped with a beautiful girl should be written down in the books as "lost to enemy action."

* * *

I say if we must put up with spies let them be pretty.
